By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, July 1.—Tension mounted to new heights along the Amur river frontier between Manchukuo and Siberia today as Soviet Red army and Japanese-Manchukuoan troops were reported massing on opposite sides of the river in readiness for instant action, following sinking of a Soviet gunboat.

At the same time, widely different versions of the incident were circulated by the opposing parties, and the air vibrated with charges and counter-charges.

One report, from Manchukuoan sources, said 40 Soviet gunboats were massing at the scene of the trouble.

Clashes In Ohio City Frequent As Republic Plants Resume

NINETY-FIVE ARE UNDER ARREST

(International News Service)
CANTON, O., July 1.—The back-to-work movement at Republic Steel Corporation's mills here gained headway today but nerves were taut after a night of violence. Quiet prevailed today.

Clashes within the last 24 hours between troops and pickets at the Alloys division left many bruised heads and led to the arrest of 95 strikers or sympathizers who probably will be charged with violating an injunction.

Strikers' charges that the troops were responsible for the death of Cresanto Lopez, a picket found in a semi-conscious condition in the strike zone, were denied by National Guard officers.

Coroner Edward Reno and two doctors who performed an autopsy found Lopez died of acute heart dilation. Said Brig. Gen. W. H. Marlin, in charge of troops here:

TOKYO, July 1.—Japan today demanded Soviet evacuation of the disputed Sennufu and Bolshoi Islands in the Amur river and retention of the Soviet river fleet in territorial waters before new measures to avoid a Russo-Japanese clash could be taken.

Soviet compliance must be "prompt and effective," semi-official quarters stressed.

Thereafter it is "possible" that fresh proposals will be submitted by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota to maintain peace. Hirota is likely to suggest that troops of both sides withdraw some disance from the river border to avert possible new conflicts.

MONTREAL, July 1—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and his bride have made reservations on the liner express of Britain, sailing for Liverpool from Quebec on July 10, it was learned today.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 1.—The Franklin Roosevelts, Jr.,—she's the former Ethel DuPont,—were honeymooning "somewhere at large" today after the most elaborate and highly spotlighted wedding of the year.

"Try and catch us," was the laughing challenge flung by the happy bride and groom as they left Owls Nest, the bride's home early today, bound for a secret destination.

"We're just vanishing," said Franklin. "Never mind where."

Leave In Rainstorm

The bridal pair left the DuPont mansion in a driving rainstorm that stalled cars, blocked roads, and soaked the wedding guests. But to Franklin and Ethel it didn't matter whether the sun shone or lightning crackled or the world stopped turning.

"We didn't mind the rain at all," laughed the radiant bride.

'We think it's good luck" grinned the bridegroom.

Inland Steel Plants Reopen Under Truce

Eleventh-Hour Agreement Is Negotiated By Governor Of Indiana

PICKET LINES ARE WITHDRAWN

Work To Continue Pending Decision By National Labor Relations Board

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, July 1.—Under terms of an eleventh-hour truce agreement, reached while 3,900 Indiana National Guard troops stood ready to prevent anticipated violence, Inland Steel Company today reopened its Calumet region plants at conclusion of a six-weeks strike called by the C. I. O. steel workers' organizing committee.

Picket lines were withdrawn by order of Van A. Bittner, Great Lakes district director of the S. W. O. C., and the 16,000 workers employed by Inland Steel in the Chicago region were free to return to their jobs without fear of molestation by pickets.

Truce Negotiated

Gov. M. Clifford Townsend, after heroic negotiations with officials of the S. W. O. C. and the Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube companies, finally negotiated the truce agreement in Indianapolis at midnight last night.

While Inland's assent to the truce, announced as "a memorandum of understanding" between the Committee for Industrial Organization and the company, was expected to be followed by an acceptance from Youngstown, the latter company balked early this morning and refused to follow Inland's lead.

J. E. Dailey, an official of Youngstown, informed Gov. Townsend the firm would not attempt to open its gates today. Whereupon Bittner ordered his sectional leaders in Lake county (Ind.) to keep pickets from molesting Youngstown workers who in the confusion might answer the earlier call to report for work.

The truce agreement provides that the Inland workers return to their jobs without discrimination for their strike activities or union affiliations. Grievances are to be settled by mediation before the Indiana State Labor division headed by Commissioner Thomas R. Hutson.

Await Board Decision

Work will continue under this arrangement pending a decision by the National Labor Relations board, which is now hearing C.I.O. charges here against Inland on a complaint that the company has violated the Wagner Act in refusing to sign a bargaining agreement with the S. W. O. C.

Dailey said his company declined

Pymatuning Lake Open To Fishermen

(International News Service)
"Fisherman's paradise"—the giant Pymatuning Lake—was officially opened today for fishing and recreation with an estimated 65,000,000 fish just waiting for a chance to bite any stray worm—hook attached, of course.

Dour-visaged veterans, anxious youngsters and even members of the fairer sex sat side by side, some with glistening rods and the latest thing in equipment and others with just the same old-fashioned bamboo pole and string, all trying to pull in their catch of unwary fish.

For three years, Pennsylvania and Ohio have been stocking the huge dam, built principally for flood control purposes. In the meantime the lake was a closed spot and the fish multiplied. Truck loads of fish were dumped into the waters. Today was the payoff.

Huge New B. & O. Locomotive Here

There's a stranger in the Baltimore and Ohio roundhouse at New Castle Junction today. A big handsome stranger, powerfully built, young and sleek looking, shadowing everything else in the huge roundhouse with the beauty of his lines and the implications of strength and speed. He's so large that about 12 feet of him is not in the roundhouse at all but sticks out beyond the end of the track which is his stall.

The stranger is the "George H. Emerson", the newest, finest locomotive of the Baltimore and Ohio system, a locomtive that is unique in the truest sense of the word for there is not another one like it in all the world. It is the most recent products of that unusual combination of genius, Col. George H. Emerson, chief of motive power for the B. & O., W. B. Whitsitt, mechanical engineer, and the craftmen of the Mt. Clare Shops where the new engine was made. In every sense of the word the engine is the product of the men of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, design and construction.

Tremendous Length

The length of this new behemoth of the rails is over 117 feet from coupler to coupler. It has four steam cylinders, which are cast integral with the engine frame, and this casting is one of the wonders of this mechanical age. The casting is 60 feet long and is the first of its type every produced with four cylinders. Typed as N-1, the George H. Emerson is the 4-4-4-4 type, the first four cylinder, single unit, single expansion type locomotive ever built.

To describe it briefly the engine is really two engines backed together insofar as the operating power is concerned. There are four steam cylinders instead of two as on the ordinary locomotive and the cylinders are located one on each side at the front immediately ahead of the driving wheels, and one on each side at the rear of the driving wheels. The two sets of cylinders operate as two engines in concert. The side rods connect the first and second driving wheels, and the third and fourth driving wheels but there is no connection between the second and third wheels. If you can visualize an engine with two driving rods on each side instead of one you have a picture of the George H. Emerson.

Named After Builder

Complimenting Col. George H. Emerson, the wizard of locomotive construction the locomtive has been named after him. Included in the new engine are many of the Emerson developed innovations, among them the Emerson water tube boiler, the superheater, the double ported piston valve, (first introduced by

JURY FINDS HUNT GUILTY

Eight Day Trial Brings Verdict

White Follower Of Harlem's Father Divine Faces Prison Term

TESTIMONY IN CASE SENSATIONAL

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 1.—John Wuest Hunt, portly millionaire white follower of Harlem's Father Divine, was found guilty today of violation of the Mann Act.

A federal jury convicted him of transporting pretty Delight Jewett, 17-year-old Denver high school girl, to his Beverly Hills, Cal., home where he seduced her.

Three other followers of the famous New York spiritualist and co-defendants with Hunt were acquitted.

The jury, which had listened to eight days of sensational testimony, deliberated ten hours.

Continues Jesting

Hunt did not drop the jesting air he has maintained all through the trial even when the pronouncement of guilt was read against him.

He laughed and joked, and even stopped to buy one newspaperman a soft drink as he was being led off to jail.

"All I want now is to be editor of the McNeil Island Lantern," was his only comment.

The McNeil Island Lantern is the paper published by inmates of the McNeil Island federal prison, to which Hunt will be sentenced for a term ranging up to five years.

All the time the jury deliberated he spent in reading the last issue of the paper.

According to testimony, Hunt seduced Miss Jewett after telling her he was "Jesus the Christ," she was "the new Virgin Mary" and that she was destined to be the mother of the "New Redeemer."

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE DEPARTMENT NOW FIXTURE IN STATE

Under the system provided for by the legislature, the new state department will take over the SERB and public assistance functions in the welfare department, which, in turn, will be administered locally through county assistance boards appointed by the governor.

The reoganization, De Schweinitz told International News Service, will be a gradual process. First to be done, he said, will be the consolidation of the SERB and public assistance agencies in the welfare department.

County Assistance Boards

The new laws provide that the governor, effective today, set up county assistance boards—seven members in all counties but Philadelphia and Allegheny where they will consist of 11 members, giving the chief executive the appointive power over all of the offices, none of them paid.

These boards, however, De Schweinitz said, will not be appointed at one time. Rather, this will be spread out until December 31 when the two-century old poor board system is to pass out of existence.

Until December 31, De Schweinitz explained, the poor boards will continue to administer relief to the unemployable-needy and local institutions which, at that date will pass into the hands of county commissioners. Meanwhile, he said, until the county assistance boards are established, administration of mothers' assistance, blind pensions, old age assistance and direct relief will remain as is.

In other words, De Schweinitz pointed out, the new system of caring for the state's indigents will not be established in its entirety until the first of 1938. The legislature appropriated $137,500,000 to finance the consolidated program for the next two years, with an additional $1,500,000 appropriated to the new department for administration purposes.

and fired on Japanese-Manchukuoan defense forces.

The latter returned the fire, sinking one vessel, damaging another with loss of life and driving off the third.

With Toyko in a high state of excitement, wondering whether this latest incident will signalize the long-awaited explosion in the Far East, reports poured into the Japanese capital from all quarters.

Situation Alarming

Dispatches from Harbin, Manchukuo, described the situation in the Amur river, where sovereignty of Sennufu and other islands was disputed between Russian and Japan, as "alarming."

The Harbin version of the incident, the most sensational yet, said serious fighting occurred between Soviet and Manchukuoan flotillas. In the first of a series of engagements, according to this version, two Soviet gunboats were sunk and a third retired, seriously crippled.

In a second engagement, the Harbin dispatches stated, five Soviet gunboats heavily engaged Manchukuoan land and river forces. It was claimed the Soviet ships entered Manchukuoan territorial waters.

the agreement rather than submit to the mediation clause drawn up by Gov. Townsend.

Announcement of the agreement was made last night half an hour after Bittner joined the Indianapolis conference between Gov. Townsend and Labor Commissioner Hutson in the governer's offices. Inland's agreement was wired to the conference by Wilfred Sykew, assistant to the president.

Demobilizes Guard

Gov. Townsend immediately ordered the demobilization of national guardsmen, ordered held ready for action in the crisis when peace appeared hopeless and officials of the independent steel companies declared they would reopen their plants regardless of thousands of equally determined strikers.

Bittner, in calling off the C.I.O. pickets, ordered:

"Don't let anything in God's name interfere with reopening of the mills peacefully! The strike is ended. Gov. Townsend has done the finest job of any governor in bringing about this agreement."

Instead of negotiating the compact directly between the Inland company and the S. W. O. C., Gov. Townsend secured the assent of both to the memorandum, turning the articles over to the Indiana Labor board.

Inland officials pointed out that the company had made no concessions to the S. W. O. C. on the vital issue of the seven-state strike against the independent steel manufacturers—the signing of a formal contract recognizing the S. W. O. C. as bargaining agent for the employes.

This issue is to be ironed out at the current National Labor Relations board hearing in Chicago.

Steel workers in the strike-affected towns of the Calumet region held a jubilant demonstration when informed that the prospect of returning to work was bright.

Cheers of thousands of idle workers greeted the announcement of Nicholas Fontecchio, S. W. O. C. director in the Calumet region:

"The strike is off! Return to your jobs."

Workers Troop Back

Chicago, July 1.—Smiling, whistling and singing, steel workers by the thousands trooped back to the Inland Steel company plant in East Chicago, Ind., today, but how long they would remain on the job was problematical.

The men returned to their tasks in the giant mills following the announcement last night by Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana that a truce had been reached by the C.I.O. and company officials.

The terms were:

1—All employees return to work without discrimination.

2—Company recognizes the Steel Workers Organizing Committee as bargaining agency for the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers (a C.I.O. union).

3—Grievances to be appealed to Thomas H. Hutson, Indian commissioner of Labor, whose decisions will be final.

After a night and early morning wild celebration in East Chicago, however, following the announcement of these terms, the Inland company, today, through Clarence B. Randell, its vice president, threw cold water on the workers' enthusiasm, with the result that many of the union members demanded a new strike.

Randell declared:

"We signed nothing with anyone last night. We made an agreement with nobody. The C.I.O. merely accepted the provisions of our labor policy which was announced before the strike started."

In the meanwhile, the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company remained shut today as Gov. Townsend pressed officials to become a party to an agreement similar to that made with Inland steel.

Frank Purnell of Youngstown said flatly, however, that his company would make no agreement with the C.I.O., directly or indirectly and "will not make any such agreement through the governor's office."

His statement that employees wish to return to work and would do so if protected from violence brought this reply from Gov. Townsend:

"If necessary I am going to declare martial law and send troops to see that you do not re-open your plant."

The governor insisted that Youngstown must reach an agreement similar to that made with Inland.

of Crestanto Lopez was not caused in any way by any contact, physical or otherwise, with any of the National Guard troops in this command."

Plan Memorial

Martin J. Beckner, strike leader, claimed the union has witnesses who saw Lopez beaten. The steel workers organizing committee planned a memorial meeting for him in a park here tonight.

More men entered the three company plants now in operation at the change of shifts this morning than yesterday, a National Guard spokesman said. Some 1,400 were said to have gone to work yesterday. There was no recurrence today of the dynamiting or rock-throwing incidents that marked the reopening.

The United Alloy, Stark Rolling Mills and Berger divisions of Republic Steel were operating. No attempt was made to reopen the south mill.

Presence of 800 National Guardsmen on duty here was assailed as a "menace to the peace of the community" by the CIO joint committee and the executive committee of the Canton Federation of Labor. The labor group joined in a demand to Sheriff Joseph Nist that he asked removal of the troops.

Walter J. Allen of the B. & O.) and revived by Col. Emerson because of his belief in the soundness of it.

The tractive power of the new locomtive is 65,000 pounds, with a fine counterbalancing of the weights provided for revolving and reciprocal parts. The capacity of the water tank is 22,000 gallons and of the coal tender 23 tons. The weight of the locomtive is 386,500 pounds, and of the locomtive and tender 736,500 pounds.

As the author of this article inspected the new beauty he looked into the firebox. A mechanic was standing inside making repairs and he looked as though he might have been standing in a theatre looking for a seat. To feed this huge maw an automatic coal stoker is provided for no human being could ever shovel coal to the back end of that firebox.

The "George H. Emerson" came into the junction round house Wednesday night and with it came Harry Reese, former New Castle man who is the general master mechanic of the B. & O. lines west. Mr. Reese is as proud of the new engine as a young father with his first boy and well he might be for the new locomotive is the finest thing on rails today.

For the present it is being tested in various types of service. Eventually it will haul the crack Capitol Limited between Chicago and Washington. The Capitol Limited is one of the Royal Blue trains and the "George H. Emerson" will fit nicely into such a designation for it is an aristocrat among locomotives. Painted in the well known royal blue of the B. & O. it looks ready to do anything it is called upon to do.

churches of Pittsburgh, was the speaker of the day and gave a fine address, eulogizing the founder of the college, Dr. Ashur A. Galbreath, and his wife, Anna, who was a member of the faculty. He also spoke feelingly of the former members of the faculty, Dr. M. E. Hess, Dr. J. Brady Bowman, Prof. John B. Houk and Prof. Charles F. Ball. He referred to Dawson D. Potter, Dr. Thomas George, Dr. Thomas Hollins, Rube Waddell and others who were famous athletes at the college.

Mrs. Anna Galbreath was present and spoke kindly of the fellowship of the reunions and the friendships formed at college which have lasted down through the years.

Judge James A. Chambers spoke of the difficulties under which Dr. Galbreath labored in founding the college and of the large numbers of students who were still living and who return after forty years of absence from the community.

Judge W. Walter Braham spoke of the later years of the college and of how it became the Volant high school after the college had ceased to exist. He predicted that the organization would live on for many years because of the strong foundation on which the reunion was founded.

Dr. S. A. Kirkbride, of New Wilmington, spoke of the splendid spirit of those attending and of the large number of young people, descendants of former students who were present.

Honor Deceased

Attorney Homer C. Drake gave the memoriam for those who have passed on during the past year and gave a splendid tribute. Those honored were Chester Bracken, Etta Caldwell Blair, Elizabeth Carter, Clare Hoagland Gaugh, Katherine Bannon McGee, Mrs. Nancy Long, Wallace Potter, George W. Collins, Joseph C. McConnell and Austin B. Cooper.

Frank S. Brenneman, chairman of the memorial service to take place at Rogers, O., on Sunday, July 25, announced the plans of this event which will take place in Mt. Carmel cemetery, when a bronze placque will be erected in the cemetery and dedicated to the memory of Dr. Ashur A. Galbreath, founder of the college. A motorcade will be formed from this district, which will leave from the First Presbyterian church here at 1:30 p. m., July 25, and will assemble at the Galbreath home in Rogers. Dr. S. F. Kirkbride will deliver the eulogy, and it is expected that a large group from this community will attend.

Mrs. Mary McCracken, of Crawford avenue, this city, was the oldest person present. Mrs. McCracken, who is 88 years of age, is descended from one of the families which was a strong backer of the college in its early days.

During the afternoon music was furnished by a stringed orchestra from Volant, adding to the enjoyment of the occasion.

A vote of thanks was extended to The News for their splendid cooperation and to the ladies of the First Presbyterian church for the fine dinner they served at noon. Over 300 people were served. The ladies of Volant also had charge of the decorations and had the speakers' stand decorated with garden flowers in an attractive manner. The dinner was served by the young ladies of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church.

HERALD-CHAMBERS WEDDING OF INTEREST

St. Edward's church in Youngstown, O., was the scene of a beautiful wedding ceremony, when Miss Mary Kennedy Herald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Herald of 1849 Coronda avenue, became the bride of James McMillin Chambers, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Kane of Crandall avenue, also of the Ohio city, and formerly of New Castle.

At the altar rail were tall vases of Madonna lilies, intermingled with carnations, while the entire chancel was hidden with palms and cybotium ferns, set off with lighted cathedral candles in two sevenbrance candleabra, a stately setting for the impressive mass solemnized at 10:30 o'clock. Father Lavery officiated, and the church was thronged with friends and relatives of the popular couple.

A program of beautiful nuptial music contributed further to the solemnity of the occasion, with Frank Fuller at the organ.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Miss Clare Herald as bridesmaid, and Miss Jean Herold as maid-of-honor, while their brother, Dr. James Herald and Dr. David Welsh were ushers. Another brother, John Herald, served the groom as best man.

A distinctive gown of white bridal satin, designed on classic lines in Grecian effect, with twisted folds of satin about the neckline, and a double band of twisted satin forming the Grecian girdle, was worn by the bride. The close-fitting sleeves were pointed at the wrist and the skirt formed a long graceful train. In harmony with the lovely gown, a white tulle veil in the fashion of a nun's headdress with folds of tulle under the chin, and a sheaf of Calla lilies with stems wound with satin, completed the picture.

Both the maid of honor and bridesmaid wore white crepe gowns with long sleeves, with a monk's cowl neckline, with small white monk's caps. They carried garland and myrtle leaves and gardenias. For ornaments, they wore their sister's gifts, gold crosses on heavy gold chains.

Breakfast was served at Mahoning Country club for the bridal party and immediate families, the bridal table being centered with a cake in the form of a cross.

A reception followed in the afternoon, and later in the day, the young couple departed on a honeymoon to Quebec and New York City. The bride wore a white and black printed silk costume with green accessories. Mr. Chambers remembered his best man with a dress set and his ushers with gold key chains.

The bride has been a member of the faculty at Woodrow Wilson school. She is a graduate of Flora Stone Mather College of Western Reserve University. Mr. Chambers is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute and also studied at Western Reserve University Law School and the law school of Youngstown College. He is associated with Pugh Brothers in Youngstown.

At a late hour, Mrs. Lewis, appearing in the attire of an airline hostess, invited the guests to partake of lunch in the diner.

Authentic airline lunch kits were used and the hostess was very efficient in supplying all their needs. She even saw that the passengers were safely strapped in their chairs.

It is hardly necessary to add that everyone had a good time.

In two weeks the club will be received in a local tearoom by Miss Janey Aiken.

Rev. F. C. Lehman officiated, with his wife, Rev. Helen Lehman, at the piano. She played several appropriate selections.

The bride wore a beautiful peach colored chiffon gown, with white accessories, and carried a bouquet of gardenias and lillies of the valley. The Rev. Carl A. Jones, pastor of Zion Baptist church, officiated with the single ring ceremony, before a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

Ferns and roses were used to bank the altar, and as decorations throughout the home. As the guests assembled, Mrs. John Brenneman and Kenneth Newton sang "I Love You Truly" and " O Promise Me." They were accompanied on the piano by Miss Leora McCommons, who played Mendelssohn's wedding march for the processional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, with a cap shape veil of tullee, caught with orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Her sister, Dorothy Studebaker, and Hilda Claypoole of Kittanning, were attendants. They wore frocks of pink silk net, appliqued in green, and carried pink rosebuds.

Little Barbara Ann Newton and Jean Erma Magee were flower girls, while Alice Jean Cross and Dorothy Jane assisted. Dale James Studebaker carried the bride's veil., Kenneth E. Rodgers, of Sharpsville, was best man.

An unusual feature of the wedding was the use of two pink satin pillows upon which the bride and groom knelt.

A buffet lunch was served to about 150 people. The bridal table was perfectly appointed in pink and white and graced with the large cake with the tiny bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Mercer left on an extended trip to California, Yellow Stone National Park, Wyoming, Black Hills of the Dakotas, Grand Canyon and other points west. For travel, the bride chose a pink ensemble with white accessories. Upon their return, they will be at home to friends in Grove City

TO LAWRENCE COUNTY RESIDENTS!

TUESDAY, July 6!

Mark it on your calendar with a red circle, you voters of the townships and boros.

It isn't just the day after a celebration, it is the second day upon which you can get registered to vote on September 14.

After Tuesday you have just one more day in which to get yourself registered, August 10. Between then and September 1 you must come to the court house in New Castle to register.

Registrars will sit at the polling places of the 58 precincts in the county outside the city, on Tuesday, July 6, and voters can register by applying to the registrars. This is a personal, permanent registration and if you register on Tuesday you are done with the job for years, unless you move or change your party affiliation.

It is vitally important to every voter who expects to exercise his right of franchise. It is more than important, it is compulsory. Under the act passed by the recent session of the General Assembly, all voters in rural communities must register personally, such as the city voter has had to do for several years.

Previous registrations mean nothing at all. The old system where a voter was registered when he was assessed is gone. The new system calls for personal registration and the voter who fails to register before September will be refused a ballot on September 14.

The City of New Castle is registered to about 90 per cent of the total possible vote. There are over 22,000 registered in New Castle and thus far there are less than 2,200 registered in the county outside the city. If this lethargy keeps up the election will be confined to the city and any candidates expecting to get votes in the rural districts will be distinctly out of luck.

Tuesday, July 6, is the second day for rural registration. It takes considerable time to make out the registration card and in addition a voters card must be made out at the time of registration which card he gets.

Competent registrars timed themselves on the first day of registration, June 8, and found that about five per hour was all they could make out. Hence with 20,000 or more rural voters unregistered the necessity of action on July 6 is imperative.

It takes a little time to go to the polls and register, but there are some rights of an American citizen which require time. There is no exemption in the matter of failure to register. Either you do on the days or before the dead line of September 1, or you don't. And if you don't register you don't vote.

Thus far the political organizations have done little to encourage and aid registration. It is thought that something may be done on July 6 to get out the voters to the polls, but in the meantime the voter who does his own thinking will need no spur upon the part of political organizations.

Get out and register on July 6! August 10 is the last day to do it at your polling precinct. And on that day the crowd may be so large that you won't be able to get it done.

Register Tuesday, July 6!

PRIVATE JOBS GAIN

Into the gloomy atmosphere created by strikes in seven states and continuing unemployment problems a ray of light is cast by a Federal Employment Service report showing that it found jobs for 380,013 persons in May. Of this total, most were placed in private industry, the largest number of any month since the service was instituted.

This figure is 80 per cent above that for May a year ago and 10 per cent above the April, 1937, record. Placements at security wages on relief projects during May declined 24 per cent from April and 94 per cent from May, 1936.

This report contains important elements of encouragement, particularly in view of the fact that the trend indicated is apparent also in the various state agencies concerned with the responsibility of finding work for the unemployed.

Every worker placed in private industry makes his own contribution to the progress of recovery and to the restoration of normal industrial and economic conditions, contributing as he does to an increase in the public's buying power and to the lessening of the demand for aid from public funds.

BLOOD BROTHERS

A fine feeling of good will was engendered by the recent week-long conclave on Canadian-American affairs, held at Ontario, under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Trade policies and industrial relations were among the important problems discussed by more than 150 men of outstanding importance from the two countries.

Canadian-American congeniality was amusingly shown by Professor MacIver, of Columbia, who told the gathering that Canada and the United States are slaves to the auto, the ice cream cone and the slogan habit, thus sharing a common pattern of life.

Frank discusssion of both countries' tariff policies is a healthy sign that the process of amiable conference will iron out many kinks in over-the-border trade relations.

For scores of busy, practical and scientific leaders to foregather and stress our cultural similarities and economic differences without friction and with much mutual profit should put to shame those men of might in Europe who long ago could have used the same arbitration route to international peace.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LEARNING HUMILITY

Benjamin Franklin, in his autobiography, tells how he set out during adolescence to devise a plan for self-improvement. He wrote down certain traits on which he was going to practcie to do better. He followed his plan conscientiously and got good results.

"My list of virtues," he wrote, contained at first but 12; but a Quaker friend having kindly informed me that I was generally thought proud; that my pride showed itself frequently in conversation; that I was not content with being in the right when discussing any point, but was overbearing, and rather insolent, of which he convinced me by mentioning several instances; I determined endeavoring to cure myself, if I could, of this vice or folly among the rest, and I added humility to my list, giving an extensive meaning to the word."

When have you and I seen a motion picture, since we saw "Pasteur", that magnified humility as a virtue? It seems that braggadocia and egotism are the traits most often played up for admiration, especially in children.

When we identify ourselves with the hero of the screen he or she is what we would like to be, not the kind of person we would like to live within the ordinary day's routine.

Need Humility for Happiness.

To make life livable and happy for others as well as for ourselves, we need to strive to cultivate humility; and our children do. Even those persons suffering from feelings of inferiority may be only suffering because they lack humility. Pride, unawares, is frequently the source of the so-called inferiority complex.

When we brag about our own achievements or possessions to others who have achieved less or own less; when we tell how well we have guided our child or how well he gets along in school to others whose child troubles them with his misbehavior or school failures; when we feel and speak uncharitably of others' failures; when we lord it over our children, our marital companion or anybody else we can, we are lacking in humility.

And all of us are guilty of these wrongs at times, I suppose. For all of us, therefore, it might not be amiss to read and reread or repeat to ourselves such words as those of Jesus who, though Master, chose to dramatize humility by washing the feet of his disciples:

"If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and servant of all." . . .

"And whosoever shall be chief among you, let him be your servant." . . .

"And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted."

It makes me feel more humble just to write these sayings down.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

ARE YOU "COMMON?"

I REMEMBER writing an article in which I spoke of "common men and women"—and a reader scolded me for using that word "common." She said she thought I had gone too far because "working people" in her estimation are NOT "common."

Well, then, if that is true—and working people are not common—then pull down the flag and scuttle the flag, because no hope is left for the human race. If all those men and women who work so hard and earn every cent they spend and have no time to raise their heads in snobbery, if THEY are not common, then where is commonness to be found anywhere on this common earth?

But of course Mrs. Reader was using the word "common" in one way, while I was using it in another sense. . . . So many of our words have been smeared and spoiled and adulterated by the meanings given them by the "upper classes," by the ladies and gentlemen who dallied through life in the courts of royalty.

'Vulgar" is one of those words. Once it meant no more than the way of the people.

"Plebeian" is another such word. It described the middle class in ancient Rome, and that's all.

"Common" is like those other words—a good word given a mean significance by snobbery. The rich and the powerful, the titled and the exculsive, through the centuries of the past controlled the grammarions and the makers of dictionaries. They sneered at people who worked with their hands, they used such words as vulgar and plebeian and common to express their disdain. . . . And we find those meanings they gave still used in books and still clinging to the common tongue.

An that's why this critic of mine thought I was using the word "common." She thought I used it as people do when they speak of "Common drabs" or "common meanness" or "common nuisance." But I wasn't. I was using it as we do when we speak of "common sense" or "common manhood" or "common decency."

I'd be ashamed to use the word in any other sense, and angry if anybody suspected me of using "common" as a stick to beat a common man. For I know no fine man or woman who is not common in many, many ways—and fine just because of that common streak in them that makes them brother and sister to all who work with their common hands and use those common hands to help their common fellows.

THE BLIND

Are you looking for a light that always shines?
You have not far to go.
It's there within you. What you see without
Is only its reflected glow.
Ask of the blind. They know.

There is an inner sight that shines from them
To us and back again which is more bright
If we augment it with our light.
It spreads its blessings on the souls of both
And magnifies a thousand fold—and lasts
Because it's of the spirit, timeless flame
That needs no name.

In an infinitesimal moment soon to come
We, too, shall know the dark,
Beginning our long journey
Down the corridors of time,
And we shall need their guiding hands
To lead us on the way to light
That shows already in their faces,
For they are nearer God's own graces
And can vision Him through spaces
That are void and dark to us.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—My porch chairs have a down-at-the-heels look. I am going to paint them with the hope of thus toning them up. What color paint would you suggest? The furniture is wicker.
ECONOMICAL HOUSEKEEPER.

Answer—Green, being cool and relaxing, is generally used for porch furniture. But if color is needed, you may use red.

Chintz cushions for the seats with matching back cushions will afford comfort as well as an attractive appearance.

A coat of fresh paint every year will keep your furniture looking new and at the same time preserve the wood.

Dear Miss Markel.—Please tell me if Venetian blinds are appropriate for a one-story bungalow. M. S.

Answer—Venetian blinds may be used in any type of house and with any kind of interior decorations. These are the best shades you can procure since they shut out as much light as you desire and allow air to come in at the same time. Make sure that they fit properly; otherwise, you will be annoyed with their rattling every time there is the slightest wind.

The World At A Glance

British Hope For Peace.
Prominent Men Express Thoughts.
Peace Solution Is Being Sought.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

"LETTERS TO THE TIMES" of London still play an important part in illuminating world affairs as seen through British eyes.

We, therefore, today present two significant letters, disclosing the thought of two British men of opinion.

The first is by Lord Hardinge of Penshurst, a veteran diplomat:

Says Lord Hardinge:

"More than once in recent times events have given serious warning of the real and grave danger of which the peace of Europe may be exposed by the provocation of the susceptibilities of other countries. The British public, in demanding a wider control than heretofore over foreign affairs, must realize that such control entails responsibilities commensurate with the power they wish to exercise. If this country is to play a decisive role in Europe we must be sure that the methods we employe are such as to encourage the concord of peace that we also ardently desire, and that they will not estrange foreign powers who may stretch out the hand of friendship towards us.

"I do not advocate any curtailment of established liberties; but I do enter a plea for more restraint and moderation. Let us, by all means, record facts, provided only that we are sure of them, as freely as we have ever done, and let us pass fair criticisms upon them. But, when we have fulfilled these clear duties as our consciences may dictate, what do we gain by nagging reiterations in parliament or outside, by exaggerating facts, or by passing from the dignified maintenance of principles to the making of comments and criticisms that cannot but be regarded by some foreign countries as deliberately offensive? However righteous the causes we defend, we shall never, by hitting out blindly at those who differ from us, persuade them to help us in bringing peace and order to the Europe of today.

"A national diplomacy should be practiced towards all countries, both great and small, with a special bearing on our relations to the great dictatorships.

"What seems to be needed is a policy of appeasement in our relations both with Italy and with Germany. The avoidance of opposing 'ideological' blocs in Europe is, we are told, one of the fundamental bases of our foreign policy. Let us remember, then, that the task to which we have set ourselves is no longer to make the world safe for democracy, but to make the co-existence of democracies and dictatorships safe for the world."

AMERICA'S EXAMPLE

The second is by Sir John Fischer Williams, K. C., who was British legal representative on the reparations commission:

Says Sir John:

"In our search for a method of preventing war among civilized nations or at any rate for minimizing its evils, may we not profitably consider what is taking place on the other side of the Atlantic?

"The Inter-American Conference for the Maintenance of Peace sat in Buenos Aires for more than three weeks last December and discussed at length the possibility of the prevention of international armed conflict in America. In the result it did not adopt any drastic scheme, such as a policy of binding all American nations to ensure peace by common warlike action against an aggressor. It did not think it now possible to give peace teeth or claws by equipping her with an international army or air force.

"The conference decided rather to rely on the procedure of consultation as the chief factor making for peace; it reaffirmed the Briand-Kellogg pact, the Gondra treaty of 1923 for the reference of controversies to international commissions of inquiry, the Inter-American conciliation convention

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE GOSSIPS

A newspaper man, whom we know, has an enlightening hobby. He collects outlandishly misleading statements in the press of the world. Every nation, he says, has its share of tale bearing.

Typical of clippings that compose his collection is one in which a South African tells of depression days in North America. This scribe declares that he found New York's skyscrapers dark, dreary, and practically deserted. The same condition, he asserts, prevailed in towns farther west, even "in the wilds of Missouri." And a certain Johannesburg newspaper reports that "The world crisis has swept America with a flame of fire, scourging and shrivelling state after state, from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

One American tourist recently observed that he could travel throughout Europe "and never know from the local press that America had anything but heat waves, droughts, and gangsters." But frank European travellers comment upon the paucity of "news from home" in the American press, so the score would seem to be evened.

The hobby of our newspaperman friend, however, does not stop at stuffing clippings of bizarre reporting into brown pouches. He is a deep student of public opinion and the techniques of its formation and control. Quite dryly, he observes that in affairs both national and personal, "mud thrown is ground lost." Get him to be serious, and he will tell you that there is a crop of younger reporters who are taking pains to write carefully and accurately, and that their work is butteressing in understanding the world's will-to-good-will.

"You must work hard, think hard and be sincere with yourselves and your fellow man."

LOS ANGELES—The Rev. Chester C. Gates of Portland, Ore., offers the Christian Endeavor convention a panacea:

"Ninety per cent of the world's troubles would be eliminated if time were taken to understand the other fellow's motives."

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Mischa Auer expresses delight at being assigned comedy roles for a change:

"When I was a villain the hero was always taking a sock at me."

Today's Yesterdays, July 1, 1737—France had 20 times as much of North America as Britain, as an intensive struggle for Canada began.

Today France's only possession in North America is a group of small islands, while more territory in this continent is under the British flag than that of any other nation—including the United States.

July 1, 1859—First transcontinental air mail flight was made, half century before the Wrights got their first plane into the air. John Wise, with O. H. Gager, John Lamountain and another companion, soared in a balloon over a previously chosen route from St. Louis to near New York City, their destination 1150 miles, in 19 hours, 15 minutes—railroad time today.

But Wise's statement to newspapers that man would eventually fly around the world caused him to be taken for a nut and denied backing for a transatlantic hop. John T. Trowbridge became famous as author of a poem, "Darius Green and His Flying Machine," which heaped ridicule on Wise.

Exactly 60 years later, first Chicago-New York airmail service began, at a slower speed than Wise made!

75 Years Ago Today—The first U. S. taxes were laid upon incomes and tobacco, and the Internal Revenue Bureau was established. The income levy extended to all incomes over $600 a year, including those of federal officials and employes (who under present laws have made themselves exempt, so that those drawing money from the government don't have to pay income taxes to support it!)

INTOLERANCE

'Tis strange he doesn't sneer at me
Because my favorite drink is tea,
Nor look in hate on me when I
Decline to take his choice of pie.

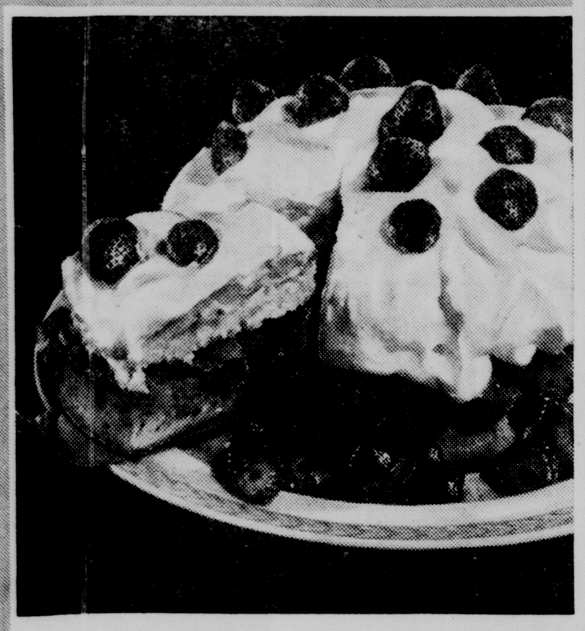

He lets me choose my style of dress
And seems to like me none the less;
Nor has he quarreled once about
The hat I wear when I go out.

In many ways he thinks me odd,
But only when I worship God
And say the prayer that comforts me
Does he intolerant grow to be.

Strange man! Who leaves me free to choose
What ever pleases me to use
And yet belittles everywhere
My chosen form of creed and prayer.

Gives County's Rank Upon Employment

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1—The census bureau ranks Lawrence county as the 183rd most important county in the nation insofar as employment is concerned.

The bureau based its ratings upon 1935 employment. It found that in that year in Lawrence county a total of 21,772 persons were employed in industry and business and on farms. Of the 818 most important counties in the country giving employment to 75 per cent of all workers in the nation, only 182 were rated above Lawrence county as having greater employment rolls.

Of the Lawrence county workers, 18,613 were in industry and business and 3,159 were on farms. Of those engaged on farms, 2,655 were farm operators and 504 were hired hands.

Huge Figures Tell Story Of Jamboree Feeding Problems

Scouts In Washington Will Devour 75,000 Meals Each Day For Ten Days

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—The Boy Scouts' Jamboree would be no picnic for mother if she had to do the cooking...not at a camping party requiring 75,000 meals to be served each day for ten days.

Even the thought of preparing a breakfast of some 50,000 eggs or of making hot cakes for 25,000 hungry mouths is almost too large an order for mother, while the prospect of the 13,000 pounds of meat needing preparation for a single meal would undoubtedly result in her hasty retreat from the kitchen and emphatic resignation.

Yet that is the order undertaken by the Boy Scouts of America for their first National Jamboree from June 30th to July 9th in Washington, D. C. where approximately 75,000 meals will be served up each day of this great encampment.

To handle the cooking for such a tremendous group, 25 kitchens have been set up on the Jamboree grounds from which each of 816 provisional Scout Troops will draw steaming hot rations already cooked for serving which they will take to their Troop dining tents in thermos cans.

Camp chefs have estimated that approximately 250 tons of foodstuffs will be consumed daily at the Jamboree, including:

900 bushels of potatoes each meal.
13,000 pounds of bread each meal.
25,000 quarts of milk daily.
4,000 pounds of butter daily.
2 tons of sugar daily.
50,000 eggs for one meal.
1,200 gallons of any canned vegetable per meal, such as tomatoes, corn, succotash, string beans, etc.

Many Drivers Lose Licenses

Over Thousand Have Permits Taken Away During Month Of May

HARRISBURG, July 1.—A total of 1062 automobile operator's licenses were withdrawn as the result of 1198 hearings held by inspectors of the Department of Revenue during May, Secretary of Revenue J. Griffith Boardman said today.

Of the withdraws, 717 were suspensions and 345 were revocations. Causes for suspensions were as follows: failure to maintain proof of financial responsibility, 190; reckless driving, 180; failure to appear for hearing, 81; no operator's license, 33; operating without owner's consent, 28; incompetence, 27; intoxication, 22; fatal accident, 21; misdemeanor, 18; failure to file proof and satisfy judgment, 16; operating during suspension period, 13; permitting violation, 10; miscellaneous, 278.

Causes for revocations were as follows; intoxication, 225; larceny, 59; failure to stop and render assistance, 18; miscellaneous, 43.

During the month 322 persons filed proof of financial responsibility to regain their licenses following withdrawal. An additional 488 persons renewed their proof to retain their licenses.

Permanent Air Route Planned Over North Pole

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, July 1.—Soviet Russiet will inaugurate a permanent air route across the North Pole to the United States as soon as American polar bases have been established, Professor Otto Schmidt, noted Russian arctic pioneer announced.

Professor Schmidt returned to Moscow on Friday after establishing the first permanent airplane base at the pole.

No special planes need be built for the trans-polar service, Dr. Schmidt said. Modern aircraft will suffice little adaptation, he declared.

Instruction Given Expectant Fathers

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—Knowing what to do before the blessed event is fully as important as learning what to do later on, 15 prospective fathers were informed by Dr. Ross B. Wilson, pediatrician.

The group of earnest young men are members of the Pennsylvania Hospital's school of expectant fathers. The school supplements the courses the institution has been giving expectant mothers for the past five years.

After they complete the course in pre-natal instruction, the male student will get a two months vacation and then return to learn fundamentals of bathing and diapering a baby.

Special Mediums At Sunday Service

Announcement is made today, that R. H. Johns of Detroit, Michigan, voice medium, will give special a demonstration at the meeting Sunday evening, to be held in the Spiritualist Church of Truth.

John Mosez, convicted about three years ago for the murder of Rose Balogh, has been removed from the Western Penitentiary in Pittsburgh, to the hospital for the criminally insane at Farview, Wayne county. On Wednesday Sheriff Edward Pritchard and Chief Deputy Benjamin Hartland, went to Pittsburgh and took Mosez on the long trip across the mountains.

The murder of Rose Balogh was a brutal one. Mosez met her on Long avenue and insisted that she should marry him. When she refused he shot her and then tried to commit suicide.

He was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. In the penitentiary he was one of the skilled cabinet makers, but recently his mind went bad and he was adjudged insane.

William A. Eakin, chief clerk to the county commissioners, has prepared a list of the dates which have to do with the coming elections. They begin with June 26, the first day to secure signatures to petitions. July 26 is the last day to file petitions. July 26 is the first day upon which signatures to nomination papers for independent candidates may be secured.

July 31 is the last day to file objection to any nomination petition, and it is also the last day which a candidate may withdraw. August 25 is the last day to file nomination papers for an independent candidate. September 1 is the last day an unregistered voter in the boros or townships may get himself registered. September 14 is primary day. September 17 the county board must start computation of the returns.

In an opinion handed down Wednesday by Judge W. Walter Braham, a petition to remove the name of Elizabeth Moore as a co-defendant is denied. The suit is brought by T. L. Bailey and Minnie Mae Bailey against the City of New Castle, and arises out of an accident at 103 North Mercer street on October 26, 1934. Elizabeth Moore is named with the city as the owner of the property.

The following actions have been taken in the office of Prothonotary John A. Edgar:

Ada W. McCullough against Allen T. Chamberlain and Wilhelmina Chamberlain, his wife. An action to revive and continue a lien of $2,700 with interest from January 6, 1937.

The Federal Land Bank of Baltimore against Julia L. Kenney. An action in ejectment.

New Brighton Building and Loan Association against William R. Hunter and Adah C. Hunter. An amicable action in ejectment.

Eleanor R. Webb, of R. D. 8, files a petition in divorce from her husband, James H. Webb, alleging desertion. They were married May 28, 1920.

In auditing the books of aldermen and justices of the peace, County Controller Frank W. Hill ran across a docket book that is possibly the oldest one in use in the state today. The book is that used by Squire Fred Glenn, of Plaingrove township. It was started in 1874 by Squire J. M. Lawrence, who used it until 1913. In that year Squire I. B. Rodgers took office and served until November, 1936. He was succeeded by the present incumbent. The book is in good shape and has always been kept up in proper shape.

John P. Stump To Preach On Sunday

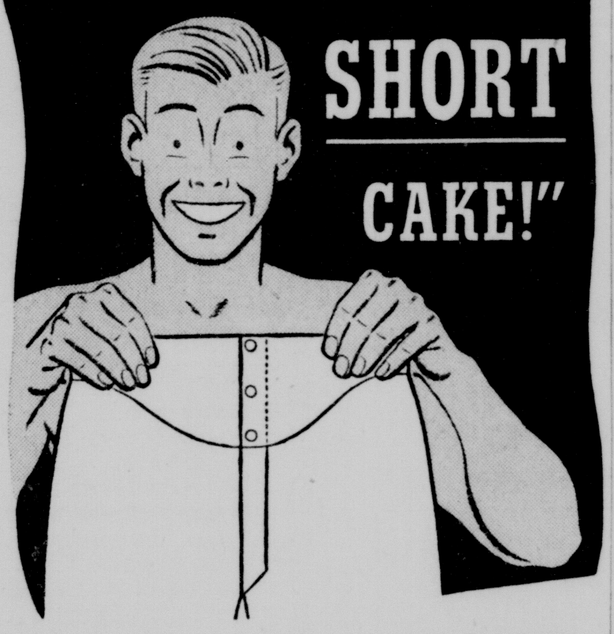

Student Will Take Father's Place In St. Paul's Lutheran Pulpit

On Sunday, July 4, John P. Stump will conduct the service in St. Paul's Lutheran church for his father, Rev. A. M. Stump, who is attending the national council meeting of the Boy Scouts of America at Washington, D. C. in connection with the National Jamboree.

John Stump is a graduate of Muhlenberg College at Alentown, Pa., and has considerable experience in public speaking. He won, as a student, both the junior oratorical contest and the senior all-college oratorical honors. He served on the varsity inter-collegiate debate team for three years and received the honor of being elected honorary captain of the debate teams the last two years. During his senior year he was captain.

The English and German services will be combined into one service at 10:40 a. m. This may be the only time this summer that Student Stump is free to speak in his home church since he is dated up for vacation supply preaching virtually up to September when he returns to the seminary at Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, to continue his theological studies.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Wagner Law To Be Readjusted

Changing Labor Law Will Hold Congress In Washington For Some Time

FIND LAW WAS STUPIDLY DRAWN

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Even if there were no other reason why congress cannot adjourn in a hurry the labor situation promises to furnish one.

It generally is agreed now on Capitol Hill and in executive circles, too, that the Wagner law must be radically readjusted, having failed to meet present conditions. Moreover, it is a job which cannot wait As has been suggested outspokenly in congressional debate the existing deadlock between certain employers and at least a formidable element among their workers threatens actual civil war.

NO COMPROMISE

No compromise is in sight, either. In fact, neither side can yield without tacitly admitting that it is beaten.

To date the Tom Girdlerites have had somewhat the better of the fight. They are reopening their industries. If they keep it up the strike against them gradually will frazzle out.

The strikers' only counter recourse is a resort to force, which inevitably will arouse public opinion against them, as their high command well knows.

Yet the John L. Lewisites cannot afford to lose. If they do further progress in their campaign will be foreclosed. And they probably also will sacrifice all the ground they gained in their previous bargains with General Motors and United States Steel. C. I. O. simply will collapse.

C. I. O.'s weakness is that it is a new movement.

It can require the federal labor relations board to call elections by employes to determine which group of them is in a majority and thus entitled to bargain collectively with their respectively industries. But C. I. O. is not yet well enough organized to be sure that it will have any majorities. It is not ready for such a test. It has to win some strikes to prove its predominance and it has not yet won the strikes. Briefly, it must prove its strength by a popular ballot, and until it has done some more organizing it is not sufficiently confident of its numerical strength to risk a ballot. It is afraid it would be licked.

BLUFFING—NOW?

C. I. O. is bluffing in short. But it is unwilling to be called.

I don't like to say this.

As the game progresses I expect to see the Girdlerites outclassed. But maybe not today, under Wagner law rules.

The Wagner rules were intended to be favorable to C. I. O.

It becomes evident that they were stupidly drawn. A lot of New Deal legislation was that way.

Corrections have got to be made in short order. Two sides probably have got to be heard. Or else our governmental system has got to be made over wholly.

Albany Papers Are Combined

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., July 1.—Effective today, the Albany Times-Union, formerly an evening and Sunday newspaper, will be published as a morning and Sunday newspaper.

The Knickerbocker Press will be discontinued as a morning and a Sunday newspaper, so that the Times-Union will be the only Sunday and morning newspaper here.

The name of the Knickerbocker Press will be combined with the Albany Evening News and this will be published as the only six-day evening newspaper in Albany.

"Mounting costs of publication and labor, combined with the fact that Albany has been 'over-newspapered' and can support profitbaly only one Sunday and one evening newspaper, have made the change necessary," a Knickerbocker Press announcement said.

A resort is cheaper in one way. When you wear riding clothes at home, people expect you to have a horse.

More Names Of Wealthy Are Cited In Taxation Probe

Yachts Residences, Racing Stables, Etc., Reported Incorporated To Reduce Taxes

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—More names of wealthy and prominent individuals who incorporated their yachts, their residences, and their racing stables—in order to establish "losses" which could be deducted from their income tax returns—were cited to the congressional tax committee Wednesday by treasury officials, with details of case histories.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, incorporated his yacht, "The Rene," and treasury counsel told the committee he thereby saved $128,528 in taxes over several years.

John Hay Whitney, noted turfman incorporated his racing stable and between 1932-35 saved himself approximately $396,000 in taxes. The stable was reported conducted at a loss of $1,325,940 during that period.

The late Alfred I. DuPont incorporated his residences and other things and avoided $437,000 in taxes in 1931-35.

Myron C. Taylor, head of U. S. Steel Corporation, also incorporated his residences, but figures submitted showed his savings were relatively small, from $4,400 to $16,800.

Mrs. Emily R. Cadwalader, wealthy Philadelphia, described as owner of the largest private yacht in the world, incorporated her yacht, and thereby saved some $220,183 in taxes.

Other names cited to the committee as employing various corporate or trust fund devices to avoid heavy taxes included:

Ed Wynn, the actor, who incorporated himself.

Mrs. Ethel Mars, wealthy Chicago sportswoman, who incorporated her racing stable.

Mrs. Nathan L. Miller, wife of former governor of New York.

Ronald Tree of Chicago.

Percy Crosby, artist, creator of "Skippy."

Fritz Kreisler, the violinist.

Marion Otis Chandler, Los Angeles.

Arthur H. Kent, treasury counsel, said apparently all were within the law as it now stands, although he said "some were on the borderline."

SILVERTON, Ore.—"Henpecked" men may be found almost any place, but Silverton believes it has the country's only "birdpecked" person.

He is Sebastion Oester, a jitney mechanic, whose head has been pecked by a blackbird every spring for the last five years. Oester doesn't know whether the bird pecked at his head because of affection or hate, but submits to the ordeal every year. He is the only one to be pecked by the blackbird.

Local Scouts In Opening Program Of Big Jamboree

Sightseeing, Drilling, And Theatre On Scout Program For First Day

REV. A. M. STUMP ARRIVES IN CAPITAL

By ROGER H. HAWK
(Special Correspondent With Jamboree Troop)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—All Region Three Scouts, of which the New Castle troop is a member, attended the Washington-Boston baseball game at the Washington baseball park Tuesday afternoon. At the game the local scouts had the pleasure of looking down over a solid mass of about five thousand scout hats, which presented a beautiful sight.

Our section was called to leave before the game was over After a short bus ride across the city we came to our camp-site where we found that the patrol which remained at home had our supper prepared for us.

After supper, Region Three held its first get-together meeting, but shortly after it convened a downpour drenched over 21,000 scouts, who after being dampened in body, but not in spirit, were dismissed and returned to camp.

Region Three donned bathing suits and went out in the rain and drilled.

On Wednesday, June 30, the Jamboree opened at 6:30 o'clock, with 25,871 scouts rising for flag ceremonies. When the flag was raised at the general headquarters, an aerial bomb was exploded and instantly all flags in the different sections were raised.

A sightseeing tour was the first item on the program following the flag ceremony, and the scouts saw the buildings occupied by the Department of Navy, Interior, Revenue, Public Health, Federal Reserve, and many other important buildings.

Wednesday afternoon another sightseeing trip was held, followed by a camp theater performance. In the evening, a great opening camp fire and torch ceremony was held, and proved to be something that Washington has never seen before.

Rev. A. M. Stump of St. Paul's Lutheran church, and president of the local scout council, arrived on Tuesday evening with his wife, and will remain until Saturday. They are residing at the Hotel Harrigan but will spend a great deal of time with the scouts.

Rev. Stump plans to attend the National Council meeting, which is scheduled for Friday evening. Elder Danner, Ellwood City, district commissioner was a visitor at our camp Wednesday afternoon.

Dangerous Grade Crossing Will Be Abolished

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 1.—The Public Utility Commission today announced it has ordered the elimination of the East avenue grade crossing over six main tracks and one siding of the New York Central railroad in Erie.

The commission's order was based on the complaint of Msgr. L. A. McBride, rector of the St. Ann's Catholic church, Erie.

The city of Erie has agreed to pay the damage costs, the P. U. C. said, pointing out the construction would run some $302,605, to be paid by the highways department with federal funds.

HOLD TWO YOUTHS ON SUSPICION IN THEFT OF COPPER

Alfore Di Augustine, South Jefferson street, and Stanley Henzel, Pennsylvania avenue, youths, were placed under arrest yesterday by Chief of Detectives Ray Showalter and Detective Thomas Lynch on suspicion of the theft of copper pipe early Thursday morning from the Shenango tin mill. A third youth is sought by the detectives.

Several youths fled, it was reported, when they heard a police radio give instructions to Lieutenant George Kennedy and other officers. However, Kennedy and the other officers got the automobile which they were supposed to have parked in North Cedar street, hence the arrests yesterday.

No wonder aliens find it hard, to learn American. When we ask what is going on here, we want to know what is coming off.

Tri-Partite Pact Being Continued

Statement On Monetary Pact Is Issued By Three Nations Concerned

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1. — The United States, Great Britain and France are continuing the tri-partite monetary agreement to stabilize the dollar, pound and franc in international exchange.

A joint statement by fiscal ministers of the three governments today affirmed the three power pact which was promulgated last September.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Sir John Simon, British chancellor of the exchequer and French Finance Minister George Bonnet in simultaneous statements made in Washington, London and Paris announced the pact would continue.

During the current French fiscal crisis there has been a prevalence of reports that France was abandoning the monetary agreement because of its huge losses of gold.

In making his statement, Morgenthau revealed the United States through its $2,000,000 stabilization fund aided the French government throughout this week's fiscal upheavel.

Salary Increases For City Employes In New York City

NEW YORK, July 1.—Salary restorations for more than 90,000 city employes, totaling more than $9,000,000 for the balance of this year, went into effect today. The increases were voted by the board of estimate yesterday in a stormy session.

Don't worry about the Supreme Court. The dissenting opinion of one is always the majority opinion of the next.

A psychic investigator complained recently that there was a shortage of haunted houses in New York City.

HALL HAS NOT GIVEN SELF UP

Warren Police Still Hunting For C. I. O. Organizer, Wanted In Bombing Case

(International News Service)

WARREN, O., July 1.—Gus Hall, CIO organizer accused of being the "master mind" behind the series of recent bombings which terrified this district, was still missing today although it had been publicly announced he would surrender within a short time.

Police chief Barney J. Gillen expressed doubts whether the telegram which announced Hall's intentions of surrounding was genuine. It read:

"I have read in the Chicago papers that I stand charged at Warren with a serious criminal offense. I have committeed no offense. I am returning there and on my arrival will deliver myself to you. Whatever the charge against me is, it is an unadultered frameup inspired by Republic Steel and associated companies.

Hall had been expected to give himself up to police late yesterday. According to local authorities three CIO members who were arrested for possessing nitro-glycerin placed the responsibility of the entire plot on Hall's shoulders, charging he was the director of the bombings.

Lee Pressman, general counsel for the SWOC which is conducting the strike against Republic Steel Corporation here, charged Gillen had spirited away John Borawiecz, one of the bombing suspects, in an effort to prevent the prisoner from consulting his attorneys.

"John Borawiecz has mysteriously disappeared from jail," Pressman charged. "Chief Gillen has refused to tell me where he is. Police are also holding as a suspect a Mr. Watkins and they have refused my request to see if he wishes counsel. The continuance of such high-handed methods means apparently that the chief hopes to extort more confessions and information by coercion. I have not been permitted to advise Borawiecz as to his constitutional rights. The chief's practices are the most vicious imaginable."

To that, Chief Gillin replied:

Pressman talked with Borawiecz for more than two hours and said he was through. Borawiecz will be back in jail today. When Pressman asked about Watkins, I told him no charge had been placed against him and anyhow Watkins didn't ask for a lawyer.

"I've picked up a bunch of suspects since the bombings and the ones I let go will tell you that I've treated them nice. But I'm boss of this police station, and I'm running this investigation to clean up the case and protect everybody."

Unemployment Relief Put On Permanent Basis

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., July 1—Unemployment relief, which has cost New York state hundreds of millions of dollars since the depression began, today became a permanent state function.

Under a law enacted in 1935, the state temporary emergency relief administration was dissolved at midnight last night and the supervision of home relief was transferred to the state department of social welfare.

Hint to economic reformers: At the rate it was going, America would now be dry if the impatient hadn't tried to dry it by force.

The nobility may make a fine art of leisure, but nothing is commendable unless the world would be better if everybody did it.

C.I.O. Leaders Issue Call For Mass Meeting

Plan Fourth Of July Demonstration In Johnstown District

SHERIFF REFUSES MARTIAL LAW PLEA

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 1.—CIO strike leaders today called for a huge Fourth of July mass meeting to rally support for striking Bethlehem Steel workers, bringing new fear to this strike besieged city.

James Mark, veteran United Mine Workers leader, and director of the present strike, promised 40,000 men will assemble for the demonstration.

Operations meanwhile were resumed at the huge Cambria works at Bethlehem Steel with emergency water supplies. Workmen were rushing repairs to the two principal mains dynamited earlier in the week.

Sheriff Michael Boyle refused the request of CIO leaders to request Gov. George H. Earle to reimpose martial law on the strike-ridden area. The CIO men had telegraphed the governor directly but in Pennsylvania the governor is powerless to act unless the sheriff requests him to do so.

Mark said Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, and Patrick T. Fagan, head of the Pittsburgh district of the United Mine Workers, will address the rally. He said almost 125,000 union miners are employed in nearby districts and that he had assurances delegations will come from as far away as Sparrows Point, Md., where a Bethlehem plant is located. Some 12,000 "captive" miners have also been called out on sympathy strike.

and the Inter-American arbitration treaty, both of 1929, and the Argentine anti-war pact of 1933—international instruments which, like a great part of contemporary international law, do not compel the states concerned to take warlike action.

"Persuasion and moral appeal may not be, indeed, often are not, successful in avoiding war between two countries, but exercised by a large body of impartial neutrals they are a powerful influence for preventing the spread of the conflagration and for indusing reasonable terms of peace. America has had her share of war, international and civil. But she has never had a 'Great War' involving the whole continent in internecine conflict. May not this be because she has not been divided into two opposing alliances such as those which might easily result from the acceptance of the doctrine that any war must be suppressed by military action taken in the name of the League by ourselves and certain other states

"The rest of the world may perhaps in existing conditions learn by the example of America, using, as a means of consultation and instrument of peaceful persuasion, not alliances or even regional pacts, but the unamended and reasonably interpreted covenant of the League."

"YES, indeed, I ought to know because I've tried all kinds and not one can compare with this New Remington Noiseless! It's a real pleasure to take the letters in for Mr. Murdock's signature. He says they are the best looking letters we ever had.

And quiet! Goodness, what a relief to be rid of that noisy, old clattertrap that used to be here. And I find the quiet helps me to concentrate. Retyping and "nerve-fatigue" are strangers to me, now.

You ask how fast it is? Just watch this for speed. The keys have a velvet-light touch and they simply fly. I very seldom have to work overtime anymore.

Of course, I'm not much of a mechanic, but I do know that the twenty-three mechanical improvements on this typewriter certainly make my work much easier. I find that it prints lovely, clear carbon copies, and cuts excellent stencils. Yes sir, I'm simply thrilled with my new Remington Noiseless!"

Whether your typewritten work is done in an executive's office or the central stenographic department—it will be done . . . quieter . . . faster . . . better on a New Remington Noiseless! The noiseless feature increases the efficiency of a typist as much as 19%.

GOT LITTLE ENJOYMENT FROM MEALS TILL HE TOOK VENDOL

Tin Mill Worker Had To Be Careful Because Of Indigestion, Gas, Sourness. Often Had Palpitation And Acid Risings. Vendol Relieved Constipation And Other Troubles.

MR. ALEX KUEIK

"I had to be so careful of what I ate that I got very little enjoyment out of my meals, but it is a different story since I have been taking Vendol," declared Mr. Alex Kueik, well known employee at the Tin Mill, in describing his experience to the Vendol Man who is introducing this famous remedy here through New Castle Drug Co.

"I had been troubled for years with constipation and I'm sure this was at the bottom of all my troubles. Even the plainest foods would cause quantities of gas to form in my stomach, awful cramps in my bowels. My stomach would turn sour, had a full, bloated feeling, particles of food would rise up in my throat and between meals, I'd have gnawing, hunger pains.

"My tongue was coated, would often feel so light-headed would have to stop my work and rest. My nerves kept me awake for hours every night and I'd arise of mornings feeling all tired and worn out with no appetite.

"It is wonderful how Vendol relieved my constipation so nice and easy, then my improvement began in every way. I kept on taking Vendol and now I never suffer from sour stomach, gas, cramps or acid risings, even though I eat hearty meals. I sleep well every night and awake feeling rested and free of aches and pains. My tongue has cleared up, my skin looks fresh and healthy and I never feel dizzy any more.

"Vendol has been a big help to me and I hope this public statement will lead others to begin taking it."

This great remedy Vendol contains valuable Alkalines along with roots and herbs, so it is like taking two medicines at once. No wonder it gives such amazing results, and that explains why local people praise it so highly

All leading druggists everywhere sell Vendol. Come to New Castle Drug Co., 31 E. Washington St., and let the Vendol Man explain fully how it will help you, too. The New Castle Drug Co., at 24 N. Mill St. also sells Vendol.

Will Buy Land For Game Tract In Big Beaver

Game Commission Approves Purchase Of Five Tracts Totalling 277 Acres

WILL BE PART OF STATE GAME LANDS

Approval has been made by the State Game Commission of the purchase of five tracts of land in Big Beaver township, this county, which will become a part of the state's Game Lands as soon as boundary line surveys can be completed and title examinations made to determine whether satisfactory titles are obtainable, according to a statement in the current issue of Pennsylvania Game News.

The tracts to be purchased include two tracts of 90 and 50 acres each from Katherine E. Vance, two tracts of 50 and 2 acres from Samuel Shurlock and one tract of 85 acres from Dike Klutt.

Just what purpose the land will be devoted to was not announced by the board. It is stated, however, that a new policy is being developed by the board in purchasing game lands.

One, to fill present holdings two, to enlarge a few small blocks acquired in past years to provide sufficient acreage for refuge and public hunting purposes, to purchase suitable tracts in the more populous counties where tracts large enough to serve the desired purpose become available at reasonable prices.

Outside the land owned at the Jordan State Game Farm there is no other refuges or public hunting tracts in Lawrence county.

Since the last report made by the Game News in February, the state has acquired 26 additional tracts totalling 15,609.9 acres, bringing the state holdings to 548,342.47 acres.

Hear Testimony In Chicago Riot

Senate Civil Liberties Committee Continues Investigation Of Strike Battle

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The senate civil liberties committee today heard a verbal description of the Memorial Day strike riot at the South Chicago plant of the Republic Steel Corporation before taking up the suppressed news-reel of the pitched battle in which about a dozen persons were killed.

Alreay exhibited privately before the committee, the film will be used to check the statements of the Chicago police. They claim the riot was precipitated by the strikers and that they shot in self defense. Those who have seen the film, contend it pictures police firing at the backs of strikers fleeing the scene of the riot.

Scheduled to tell their stories today are Police Sergeant Lyons and Patrolmen J. C. Woods, George Higgins, Phil Igoe and John Kelly. They brought along bricks, broken bottles, clubs and bags of pepper which, they said, were picked up on the field after the strikers had fled.

The missiles will be offered as evidence, Lyons said, "that we were forced to fire or take a chance of getting killed."

Lyons' contention that the strikers forced the battle was supported by James P. Allman, Chicago police commissioner, and Capt. John C. Prendergast, chief of the uniformed service, and James L. Mooney and John Kilroy.

They said they first pleaded with the marchers to disband peacefully but "someone shot" and the riot followed.

A talk on the flags of different lands was one of the parts of the program deserving special mention. Representatives of different granges of the county were present. Crop Conditions In State Good

Ample Moisture And Seasonable Temperatures Makes For Good Crops This Year

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—Aided by seasonable temperatures and ample moisture, practically all crops in Pennsylvania are doing well, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday in its weekly synopsis of crop and weather conditions in this state.

"Corn is making about an average growth, and early fields are being cultivated for the last time," the report stated. "Smaller corn would have made a more rapid growth if the nights had been warmer. However, the crop generally has a good color, and a thrifty appearance.

"Barley is a good crop, while wheat and rye seem to be a little better than the average. Haying continues in full swing and pastures are mostly good.

"Early varieties of potatoes are unusually promising. The growing conditions have been good, and there has been less trouble from potato beetles than we have had for many years. Truck crops have made up for lost time, and seem to be well up to the average in both yield and quality. The acreage of tomatoes is large, and the present outlook is for a crop equal to that of last year."

Noted Here And There In Other Newspapers

Dr. Stephen S. Wise was re-elected president of the Zionist Organization of America by acclamation at its 40th annual convention in New York City.

An odd accident imperilled the lives of Misses Martha Grace, Dorothy and Mary Alice Elder, of Coolspring township, Mercer county the other evening. As they were driving to a garden party in Mercer a horse, owned by Charles Barber, which was grazing on a bank over the roadway became frightened at the lights and made a flying leap to the hood of the car. The horse broke a leg and had to be shot. The car was badly damaged.

"Rattlesnakes are timid. They are glad to be friends. All they ask is to be let alone," says Spence D. Turner, chief forester of Los Angeles county.

When Hershel Laskey and Hyman Barr of Sharon were enroute to a mushball game in Youngstown the other day they were delayed by a flat tire. They didn't have a jack and, accompanied by Barr's two little boys, walked to the nearest garage to borrow one. "I'll lend you a jack," said the garage proprietor, "but you'll have to leave one of the boys for security." Barr and the smaller of the boys stayed at the garage while Laskey changed the tire.

Mary Towell, 26, of Donnellson, Ill., was buried Wednesday, instead of married, in her wedding gown. She was stricken with a heart attack Sunday, her wedding day, and died Monday. She was to have married Chester Bines, of Greenville, Ill.

It couldn't have happened anywhere but in the movies—but it did. In Chicago a newspaper hid a murderer away from the police and its rivals for 24 hours and then shipped him off to New York City before the Tribune, in a fine fettle, could even get a long-range look at the guy. The Herald-Examiner's lucky scoop on the Robert Irwin case deflated the Trib's ego considerably but gave the rest of the newspaper world a few chuckles.

SAYS CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA ARE INCREDIBLE

Cromwell Gives His Impressions

Was In Moscow During Death Trials Of Red Army Generals

TYRANNY TODAY EXCEEDS CZARISM

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is an article based on an interview with James H. R. Cromwell who was in Moscow with his wife, the former Doris Duke, "richest girl in the world," during the death trials of the Red Army generals.)

(Copyright 1937)

BERLIN, June 30.—Russia was pictured as a "medieval oriental despotism in a twentieth century setting" by James H. R. Cromwell, just out of Moscow, in an exclusive interview with International News Service today.

He interpreted the "purging" underway by Dictator Josef Stalin as aimed at removing all opposition.

"Russia today is incredible and appalling," Cromwell said. "It is a medieval, oriental despotism in a twentieth century setting. Russia should be depicted as a brontosaurus rather than as a bear, for as the mass increases, the brain decreases.

"What intelligence remained in the nation after the communists finished wiping out the aristocracy and bourgeoisie is being rapidly 'liquidated' by Stalin."

Cromwell remarked that the trial of the eight Russian generals was "an optical illusion" as far as the foreign colony in Moscow was concerned.

Foreigners Kept Aloof

"Nobody in Russia is allowed to get near anything that has to do with the government," he declared, "particularly foreigners unless Stalin is putting on a show like the Zinoviev trial or a North Pole flight to distract the people's attention from bureaucratic failures."

"How did the Russian masses appear to take the trials of their former leaders?" Cromwell was asked.

"They are too terrified and apathetic to care what is done so long as they themselves have a minimum of food, clothing and shelter," Cromwell replied. "Although the oppression of Czarist days pales to insignificance compared to the tyranny and wholesale slaughter of Stalin, the masses are accustomed to terrorism and as they are cut off from any knowledge of conditions in the rest of the world, they have no basis of comparison and are told that things are much worse in capitalistic nations."

"Do you think Stalin in his 'purging is acting from hysteria?"

"Like Tiberius, Abdul Hamid and other notorious tyrants, Stalin is beginning to be fearful of his own shadow," declared Cromwell.

"What do you think make the Red generals on trial 'confess'?"

"Most foreigners in Moscow believe the generals were murdered before the trial was announced," he answered. "Nobody knows if there really was a trial at all and the 'confessions' are therefore purely synthetic.

Peace Pipe Passed Around By Indians With Circus

COL. TIM McCOY and some of the Indian Chiefs in the wild west contingent of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus gather at the council tepee of the Big Show's Indian village.

Indian council fires flicker in Col. Tim McCoy's wild west section of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, coming to New Castle, Wednesday, July 7, for the chiefs of the Sioux and Blackfeet warriors in the rough riding contingents gather at the council tepee to lay their problems before Col. McCoy, who speaks all tribal tongues fluently and who is also an expert in the Indian sign language.

Of course, the council fires are electric lights these days, for the show's seven rolling light plants take care of that, but the councils are otherwise conducted according to the ancient Indian rituals. Even the peace pipe is passed around.

Col. McCoy, outstanding western screen star, is a veteran World War cavalry officer, a lieutenant-colonel in the U. S. Army Reserve, cavalry branch of the service. Guided by General Hugh Scott, McCoy, as a youngster, became an expert in all Indian matters, and that is one of the reasons why his wild west section, which is also seen in the main performances of The Greatest Show on Earth, has become the finest after-show ever seen with the world's largest circus, with Cossacks, vaqueros, cowboys, cowgirls, Indians and gauchos thundering at the heels of Col McCoy's flying charger.

Performances of the Big Show, opening with the colassal new spectacle, "India," commence at 2 and 8 p. m. The doors will open at 1 and 7 p. m., allowing a full hour in which to view the vast menagerie of more than a thousand rare animals.

Boy Scout Jamboree Opens In Capital

More Than 25,000 American And Foreign Scouts Set Up City Of Tents

Many Notables Visit Encampment, Boys Will Get To See Washington's Home

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Making their opening bow to the public in a mammoth campfire demonstration, the 25,000 American and foreign Boy Scouts attending the first national jamboree, were making the rounds of the capital today.

All were clamoring for their turn to take the boat trip to George Washington's home at Mount Vernon, Va. All will be taken there before the jamboree ends nine days hence.

City Of Tents

Unusually chilly weather aired the boys in their work in their tent city, stretched across the spacious park along the Potomac river in the rear of the Washington monument. Last night they slept under blankets.

Among the visitors to the encampment were Col. Theodore Roosevelt, son of the former president; Walter Johnson, the famous pitcher, now retired; "Uncle Daniel Carter Beard, the 87-year-old scout, and Attorney General Cummings. Cummings was assigned by President Roosevelt to read his personal message to the youthful campers.

Lord Baden-Powell, acclaimed chief scout of the world at the scouts' first world jamboree in England in 1920, also cabled greetings to the boys.

Radio Broadcasts

More than 35 broadcasts, the largest number of radio programs reporting a national event since the inaugural of President Roosevelt, will keep the millions of parents and friends of the scouts informed of their activities.

Also more than 100 physicians and assistants have been placed in full-time service in 20 sectional hospital units set up throughout the jamboree grounds to protect the health and safety of the youngsters.

Correct this sentence: "It's a wonderful chance to get rich," said the sucker, "and he told me to take my time and investigate it thoroughly."

New Castle Store Force Picnics At Castle Beach

Close to 150 persons, employes and officers of the New Castle Dry Goods store and members of some of their families, participated Wednesday afternoon and evening in the annual outing of the store force at Castle Beach. A dinner at 6 o'clock was preceded by sports and followed by a song period, a colorful floor show and an evening of dancing.

Horace S. Morgan, Jr., in charge of the store's advertising, was the general chairman for the day. Assisting him were a group of committees to which A. L. Bintz, Jr., and J. W. Staudinger, the store's associate managers, furnished their full support.

The weather for a picnic was ideal. The group took dinner and enjoyed its program in the dance pavilion on the grounds.

After the dinner was served, the throng joined in the singing which J. W. Staudinger directed with Miss Hazel Roberts at the piano. Then came the impromptu, surprise floor show, managed by General Chairman Morgan, which lasted for almost an hour. Prizes, always a feature of the picnics, were then awarded and as the evening passed the dancing started. Until 12 o'clock the crowd danced to the music of the Castleton orchestra.

Before the dinner came the sports with a mushball game between the married and single men as the chief attraction. The married players, with A. L. Bintz, Jr., as captain, outplayed their single opponents, led by Henry Snyder, by the score of 8-7. Frank J. Schrag was umpire.

Sports Prove Entertaining

The feature contests before the dinner were:

Tug-of-war for women—won by Miss Dorothy Pregenzer's side. Miss Mary Ann Snyder was captain of the losing group.

Needle threading contest—won by Miss Mary Woodrow and Henry Snyder.

Baseball throwing contest (for distance)—won by Miss Madalyn Nicholson in the women's division and Ray McAuley in the men's division.

Balloon bursting contest for men—won by Jimmy Martin.

Rolling pin tossing contest—won by Mrs. Lillian Edmunds.

Egg throwing contest for men—won by Henry Snyder and Frank Perry.

Horseshoe contest—winning team members were Johnny Gross and Ray McAuley.

Mushball game between married and single men—won by the married gentlemen, 8-7.

Peanut race for children—won by Margaret Engleman, first, and Barbara Bintz, second.

Balloon bursting for children—won by young Frank Schrag and Dulcie Culliford.

Winners in the grand prize drawing were:

First prize, a beautiful floor lamp, to Mary Logan; second, Betty Brown; third, A. L. Bintz, Jr.; fourth, Mrs. Daniel Maddocks and fifth, Paul Reffner.

Committees serving with Chairman Morgan included H. L. Culliford and Blake Waldo, who handled the food arrangements; Mrs. Pearl Douglas and Miss Dorothy Pregenzer, who took care of the prizes, and Miss Gladys Erwin, Morton Dorothy, Henry Snyder and Frank Perry, who handled the sports program.

The store closed yesterday at 3 p. m. to afford the employees opportunity to go to the beach early.

Man In Hospital Following Fight

Police Hold Another As His Assailant—Information Is Made In Case

Isaac H. Pollard, of 15 North Front street, is reported in a critical condition today in the Jameson Memorial hospital and Elmer C. Mains of 506½ West North street, is held in the county jail for a hearing on an aggravated assault and battery charge as the aftermath of a reported street fight between the two at 113 West Washington street Wednesday afternoon.

City police, who arrested Mains at the fight scene, said the two got into a fight about 3 o'clock after an argument over matters concerning a house which Mains rents. Pollard was rushed to the hospital and Officers John F. Haven and William Tyrrell took Mains into custody.

Mains was taken before Alderman Wallace J. Ewing after the aggravated assault charge had been placed against him by Robert L. Pollard, a son of the injured man. The alderman held him for a hearing on Tuesday, July 6 and because he was unable to post the $1,000 bail required he was sent to jail.

Study Plan To Drop All Court Moves To Date

Constitutional Amendment For Compulsory Retirement Of Judges Considered

RETIRE JUSTICES AT AGE OF 75 YEARS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 1.—A plan for dropping all legislation on the federal judiciary and substituting a constitutional amendment for compulsory retirement of supreme court justices was being studied today by leaders of the opposition to President Roosevelt's court bill.

Administration leaders heretofore have favored the constitutional amendment but only as a corollary to the president's bill.

The proposed amendment would call for arbitrary retirement of justices at the age of 75 years. It would carry a provision requiring only one justice—the senior justice—to retire at that age in any calendar year to prevent wholesale retirements if a group reached 75 the same year.

Opposition leaders, favoring this plan, contended it would give President Roosevelt the right to appoint one new justice for every year of his present term. They referred to the fact that one vacancy now exists and another is expected soon as congress adjourns, which would give him another appointment next year. On top of this, they argued the constitutional amendment undoubtedly would be ratified within a year, thus giving him vacancies to fill in 1939 and 1940.

Favors Amendment

Senator Van Nuys (D) of Indiana, a leader of the opposition, declared he would favor such a constitutional amendment. He said:

"I believe the larger per cent of my colleagues in the opposition to the administration bill are of the same mind. To let the people decide is my concept of democracy."

The attitude of administration forces toward this proposal was expressed by Senator Logan (D) of Kentucky. He said:

"I am in favor of passing the substitute bill, that will shortly be introduced (It would authorize appointment of new justices each year to every justice who fails to retire on reaching the age of 75.)

"After that is enacted into law, I favor submitting a constitutional amendment to the people on compulsory retirement of justices at 75. If the people want that, they would adopt it promptly, probably within a year. If a constitutional amendment along this line should be adopted, the new law wouldn't operate any further."

"Is there any possibility of compromising on an amendment to the constitution, without enactment of any legislation on the subject?" he was asked.

"No, there is not—none at all," Logan replied.

Tension Is Eased Over Russo-Jap War-Like Crisis

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Tension over the Russo-Japanese crisis eased here today as Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles expressed the hope of the American government that the Amur river border clash would not provoke an armed clash.

Welles said that the consensus gathered from official dispatches to the state department was that the sinking of a Soviet gunboat in the Amur river by JapaneseManchukuoan artillery would not prove anything more than just another border incident.

He expressed the hope of the American government that the crisis would pass without further incident. No move has been made or is contemplated by the state department, he added, in expressing this hope to the Soviet or Japanese government.

Various Trust Creations Aid Tax Evasions

So Congress Committee Is Informed By U. S. Treasury Officials

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Creation and manipulation of various kinds of trusts have enabled many wealthy persons to escape heavy taxation in the upper income brackets, treasury officials told the Congressional Tax committee today.

More names were cited, among them Grenville Clark, New York lawyer; Robert A. and Frank D. Stranahan, Toledo manufacturer; Louis Blaustein, Baltimore oil man; George W. Olmsted, Ludlow, Pa.; Martin F. Tiernan of Belleville, N. J.and Charles F. Wallace of Newark.

As treasury officials explained the cases, committee members severely criticized them for not bringing the loophole devices to congressional attention earlier so that remedial legislation could be enacted.

Democratic members as well as Republicans joined in the criticism, their questions and comment indicating they considered Bureau of Internal Revenue officials to have been negligent in this regard.

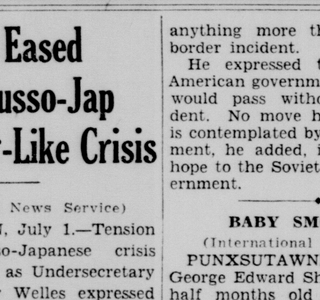

As we understand Mussolini, he will torment Jews to please Hitler but they must understand he doesn't mean it.

Politicians can't betray the country openly. First they must find the sentimental hokum to camouflage it.

'Guest Night' At 'Y' Camp Friday

Grounds, Building At Camp Rentz Will Be Inspected By Public

"Guest Night" will be observed at Camp Fred L. Rentz of the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening, July 2, from 7 to 9 o'clock, and the entire New Castle public is invited to visit the grounds to inspect the improvements that are being introduced this year.

General Secretary R. L. Meermans today said all "Y" friends, service clubs and other groups will be cordially welcome. Letters of invitation have gone out to the clubs.

Refreshments will be served during the evening by members of the "Y" staff, Merrmans said.

The camp opens for the summer July 6.

Labor Exposition Week Is Planned

Trades and Labor assembly of the city of New Castle is planning a labor exposition, beginning Labor Day, September 6, and ending on September 11, according to Councilman Joseph D. Alexander, who told colleagues in council meeting at city hall today that the assembly would like the use of Cascade Park for the affair.

He explained there would be a parade, coronation of a Queen of Labor, exhibits of progress made by labor over a half century, midway and fireworks. Council granted the request.

This will not affect the contract park concessionaires now have with the city, it was explained because their contracts cover the entire year.

MARBLES CHAMP, HIS SPIRIT GOOD, HOPES FOR BEST

(Special To The News)

WILDWOOD, N. J., July 1.—Dogged by honest-to-goodness tough luck from the very moment he started to play, Paul Lelenko, 12-year-old New Castle marbles champion, held his spirits high today as he entered another round of the national marbles tournament here. The tourney opened Tuesday.

Indications are that the national championship may fall to either the Montclair, N. J. entrant or the player representing Throop, Pa.

Paul's hard luck is reflected in the 7-6 and 7-5 scores that have been registered. Several times, in close games, he hit the marble that would have meant victory for him had it rolled clear out of the ring. Several stopped at the edge. His opponent then had an easy shot.

Paul had won five games and lost 10 when play ended yesterday. The Throop entrant, leading the "Central E" league in which Paul is playing, had won 12 and lost three.

The New Castle lad is enjoying rounds of entertainment. His trip here was sponsored by The Townsmen

Want Lights On Park Avenue Plot

Boys Appear Before Council With Petition Asking For Lights

Joe Cross headed a delegation of North Hill youths to council chambers today and braved the solons at their desks.

And what did Joe and the boys want?

They presented a petition signed by more than 200 persons requesting that the city illuminate the Park avenue playground.

Joe, as spokesman for the group and petitioners, pointed out that more than 100 were on the playgrounds when darkness came last night.

He said the boys and girls use the playgrounds up to 6 p. m., after which adults take their fling at recreation in the form of tennis.

Councilman Joseph D. Alexander explained the playground is in the hollow and used considerably.

Councilman James L. Fink wanted to know of Mr. Alexander if the net courts on Boyles field are in condition.

Alexander said work had started there, but boys had used the scene for other purposes such as mushball, and the court was affected.

He told Fink that he would have Owen Fox, city park employe, go to Boyles field and try to put the net court in condition.

$500 BAIL IN COINS

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash.—When Malen Jordan and Valle Robinson, negroes, were arrested on a liquor charge, their bail was set at $500 each. They asked a little time.

Later a friend appeared with a bag over his shoulder and dumped it with a clank on the desk of Assistant Jailer Charles Jarrett.

It contained $1,000 in silver coins, weighing 31 pounds. Jarret found, after the laborious process of counting it. Jordan and Robinson went free.

Celebrities Go To Moneta's

Italian Restaurant In Humble Surroundings Puts On Now Airs

ETIQUET TAKES SLAP ON NOSE

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 1.—There is always a pleasantly lingering memory after a visit to Papa Moneta's little Italian restaurant, niched in a tumble of Mulberry street. It offers the elegant cuisine without the flub-dubbery of the pretentious places uptown. Food minus fol de rol.

O. O. McIntyre

Things are just as they always were at Moneta's—a plain dining space, impressive for its cleanliness. And Papa Moneta is always about. So are Mama Moneta and their son. Papa greeting and darting into the kitchen. Mama at the cashier's cage and the son helping both.

Moneta's patronage is mostly judges, retired bankers, lawyers and scientists. Einstein goes there. Prosper Buranelli invented the cross word puzzle on the Moneta table cloths. Papa has his own little obscure table, where in relaxing moments he sips his goblet of vin ordinaire—watching, cat-like.

Every night at 11, Papa, Mama and their son motor to their Meadowbrook home, where in the summer they also serve dinners to passing motorists who know the Moneta touch. At sunup they are up and off to market. "We are happy, we three," says Papa, and you know they are.

Pipe smokers have won over the objections of hotel and restaurant men in smoking in New York dining rooms. The private opinion of restaurant men is that the pipe smoker should eat only in the Help's Hall. Five years ago it was not permitted, not even in Bowery lunch rooms. Headwaiters were polite but firm. Today a half dozen pipes, stoked and burning, are going in almost any well-patronized eating place. Especially at a wall table or side bench where the smoker's often queasy neighbors may not escape. Another nose dive in manners in restaurants must be a wrench to Emily Post. Scads of men are no longer standing up when ladies stop by their tables to talk a moment.

Memories: Wrapping eggs in wet paper to roast in the grate ashes. The hole in the bottom of the kitchen door for the cats to come in and out. The ash hopper where the lye was made for soap and hominy. Cracking walnuts on the sandstone parlor door stop. The perforated tin panels in the kitchen cupboard. The scorched beeswax bar for irons. The discarded fascinator that filled the broken pane in the attic window.

Almost every radio critic has at some time or other hurled a javelin at the voice of H. V. Kaltenborn over the air waves. Yet the Kaltenborn of the radio and the lecture platform are two entirely different voice personalities—a phenomenon not unusual. After a recent lecture opening, Kaltenborn as though sensing the thought of his listeners, smiled and said: "Yes it is he—and I wish to say that the pristine purity of my voice seems to be so affected by the mechanics of radio, in spite of the efforts of radio engineers to overcome the defects, that I have been and still feel myself to be, when broadcasting, in quite the position of the guest in the following verse:

I sat with the Duchess at tea
It was just as I knew it would be
For her organs internal, made noises infernal—
And everyone thought is was me.

The most tragic of voice control failures, however, was that of the late John Gilbert, of the movies. The highest salaried and most popular male star with the advent of the talkies, he went into complete eclipse with his first speaking role. Cast as a romantic swashbuckler, his voice geysered in thin piping that made the audience rock with laughter. Although the difficulty was later remedied the damage had been done. Audiences lost taste for him. A fact which broke his heart and contributed to his early demise. Jack Dempsey experienced something of the same medicine in a stage role when his voice across the footlights jetted into a shrill soprano. The audience laughed and Jack with them. He didn't want to be an actor, anyway, plague take it!

Thingumbobs: Tony Wons while convalescing from an illness is making violins in a Wisconsin town . . . Mascagni, the conductor, likes pretzels with breakfast coffee . . . Brock Pemberton is the only theatrical producer without a press agent. He used to be a newspaperman himself . . . Joe Cook's former stooge, Dave Chasen, is running a restaurant in Hollywood . . . Variety recently got the biggest free ad of the decade on a Saturday Evening Post cover by Norman Rockwell . . . It showed a vaudeville trouper with a copy of Variety plainly displayed in his pocket.

In turning for another look at a window display today, I bumped into an Old Man Grump with barrel cuffs and side-wheel whiskers. "I am sorry," I murmured. "You could be sorrier," he snapped and with an appraising glance added: "And a durn sight purtier."

Correct this sentence: "The more I see of witnesses," said the judge, "the more confidence I have in humanity."

PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS, because Gum-Dipping, that famous patented Firestone Process, makes these tires run up to 28 degrees cooler. DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON THIN WORN TIRES

DO YOU KNOW

THAT last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 38,000 men, women and children?

THAT a million more were injured?

THAT more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to unsafe tires?

Section of smooth, worn tire which is susceptible to punctures, blowouts and skidding.

Section of new Firestone Tire. Note protection against skidding, punctures and blowouts.

In Liberia, beneath the tropical African sun Firestone is transforming a million acres of jungle into one of the world's greatest rubber plantations. Started 12 years ago to create an independent American source of rubber supply, this plantation yields an ever-increasing quantity of highest grade rubber. These savings are passed on to you in the form of greater values at no extra cost.

BUENOS AIRES—Argentina's foreign trade for the month of April showed a sharp rise in imports, the biggest jump for any month since October, 1930.

Total imports for April were valued at 131,068,799 pesos ($43,690,000 at the official rate of exchange) which is nearly 20,000,000 pesos above March imports, and above the imports of any month in the last six years. This indicates that Argentina is beginning to spend cash derived from its current extraordinary prosperity. Imports for April 1, 1936 were only 87,587,494 pesos ($29,196,000).

As in the past years the work has been under the general supervision of Mrs. Robert E. Bell, who has proved to be an efficient and capable supervisor. Mrs. William Slade and Mrs. Arthur Foreman in the Junior Department, and Mrs. Paul Kimmell in the Primary Department, have had complete charge of the musical part of the school and have added greatly to its success. Mrs. Clifford Rice served as superintendent of the Primary group.

These leaders have been ably assisted by Miss Dorothy Aiken, Miss Doris Clarke, Miss Marian Markle and Miss Lucille Jackson in the Junior group, and Mrs. Abriam Davies, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Clair Witherow, Mrs. Edwin Morgan, Miss Geraldine Swick and Miss Dorothy Wilson, in the Primary division.

Yesterday 80 quarts of milk were used.

Foils Robbery By Hitch Hiker

Picking up hitch hikers doesn't always pay. At least a local business man found it so. On his way to Youngstown, O., he was hailed by a thumber and picked him up.

As they approached one of the hills on 422 west of here, the hitch hiker leaned over and in a matter of fact tone of voice said "I want your money".

Just then a truck came around a bend ahead and deciding to use strategy the business man pulled his car across the road, blocking the truck.

Seeing what had happened the hold up hitcher jumped off the car and ran across the field. The truck operator and his helper wanted to give chase but the New Castle man was well satisfied to get out of the matter without any further trouble.

Army Of Fishermen Camps At Pymatuning

Roads leading to the Pymatuning lake were alive with traffic last night, as the fishermen of two states descended upon the locality to take part in the first fishing in the great artificial lake, permissible this morning.

In all kinds of vehicles, and with all kinds of equipment they came. Many hauled boats on top of their autos, others carried tents and not a few arrived with trailers in which they made headquarters while at the lake.

Young and old, men and women, were in the crowd that kept swelling steadily as the night wore on. Around the lake were many improvised camps, while some of the prospective fishermen just rested in their autos until the hour arrived for fishing.

Practically all of the abandoned farm houses surrounding the lake seemed to have been taken over by groups of fishermen. Some have been fitted up apparently as fishing lodges.

The lake last night was comparatively calm, and there was not a boat to be seen on its surface at the Jamestown end. Apparently all fishermen were waiting until they could hurl their line and bait overboard before taking to the water.

Fishing was expected to be good, as conditions were satisfactory.

City League To Play Tonight

Four Games In Circuit, West Pittsburg At Cedar Street Against Indies

MEETING TONIGHT JUST FOR MANAGERS

The City Baseball league goes back into action tonight with the playing of four games. The games will start at 6 o'clock (weather permitting).

West Pittsburg, league leaders, will be down at the Cedar Street field to meet the fast Lawrence Indies "Red Caps" and they may lose their fifth game in the league. James "Hubbell" Balla will be on the mound for the Indies. He will be opposed by Tonsetic or F. Braky.

Mahoning Vs. Elks

Mahoning A. A. will play the Colored Elks at the E. & A. field. Manager Richardson will start Homer Gray on the mound and Manager Orlando will counter with either Roussos, the sensational youngster, or Forgione.

Sixth Ward Firemen will go to the Rosena field to oppose the South Side Board of Trade. Manager Gall will probably call on "Hank" Faller or Peck Huston to do the pitching. Manager Dudey Fruitt will probably start Lamm, his ace in the hole.

K. Pulaski will go over to the Ryantown field to oppose the Ryantowners and will have either "Flash" Kolcz or Mrozek on the mound. The selection of Manager Samuels will more than likely be Paul Coates.

Meeting Tonight

There are seven games left in the first half after tonight's games. At the present time West Pittsburg leads by two full games over the Pulaski team. It looks like a merry race right down to the finish wire.

A meeting of the league managers and officials will be held tonight at the "Y" at 9 o'clock following the games. All managers must be present. No players will be permitted to attend the meeting. C. P. "Bugs" Walther, president of the league, will preside over the session.

Tommy Farr To Meet Joe Louis

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 1—Tommy Farr, British empire heavyweight champion, plans to go to the United States to fight Joe Louis, world title holder it was announced today.

This statement was made by Farr's mentor, manager Broadribb, officially and with gestures.

He said the proposed match between Farr and Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, is definitely off as far as the Farr camp is concerned.

Broadribb made it clear he and Farr were irked by terms of the proposed "championship" Farr-Schmeling bout, under which Farr would have received only half of what the German fighter was due to collect.

In addition to Farr's forthcoming trip across the water, the net result appeared to be that Schmeling may be due to get the same kind of runaround in England that we got in the United States when he tried with, with no success at all, to get a chance to knock ex-champion Jas. J. Braddock off his pins.

American League Team Is Favored In All-Star Game

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 1.—Because of their slugging strength, the American League players today were established as 7 to 10 favorites to win the all-star game from the National League at Washington on July 7.

Jack Doyle, New York commissioner, who set the 7 to 10 odds against the American leaguers, held the National League team at even money.

"A careful analysis of the teams seems to indicate that the National League has an edge, except in power. That and luck will decide the issue," he said.

At the same time, Doyle announced his revised odds on the pennant races. The Chicago Cubs now are 9 to 5, New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 2, and Pittsburh Pirates, 7 to 2, in the National League.

The New York Yankees remain odds on favorites in the American at 1 to 3, with the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox, 4 to 1 and the Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox, 6 to 1.

Firemen Upset Ryantown 5-3

City League Postponed Game Goes To Lee Avenue Boys, Errors Costly

The Sixth Ward Firemen defeated Ryantown last night 5 to 3 in a postponed City league game at the Ryantown field. Six errors of the costly kind gave the Firemen several of their runs.

"Red" Carey and "Lefty" Gibson pitched for the Firemen and were found for nine hits. The Firemen only had five hits off of "Dolly" Hartman.

A big first inning in which they scored three runs, gave the Firemen the edge. Two more runs in the fourth spelled the doom of Ryantown. Chill, Herno and Maher had the most hits of any of the players, each getting two.

Tonight the Ryantown team will play the K. Pulaski team at Ryantown.

Conn Defeats Teddy Yarosz

Pittsburgh Boy Gets State Middleweight Crown, May Meet Steele Next

DECISION BRINGS STORM OF PROTESTS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—Billy Conn's stocks in the cauliflower industry zoomed to a new high today on the heels of his stunning upset victory over Teddy Yarosz, former middleweight champion, by a split decision that gave the 19-year-old slugger the middleweight championship of Pennsylvania.

The verdict brought one of the nosiest demonstrations ever seen or heard around a Pittsburgh ring. With the announcement of the two-to-one decision, resentful fans howled and deluged the ring with pillows, newspapers or anything they could lay their hands on. Some of the wilder citizens event went to the extremes of tossing chairs to express their feeling.

Storm Of Protests

The entire fight was so close that no matter which way the decision went, it was almost sure to bring a storm of protests. Conn went into the ring as the under-dog and after weathering an early storm, slowly piled up points as Yarosz elected to box instead of attempting to slug it out.

Yarosz opened fast and for the first three rounds, he set a whirlwind pace that had Conn constantly in trouble as he scored heavily with a well-balanced mixture of hooks, jabs and right crosses. After that he tired and slackened his pace. Conn immediately opened up, jamming lefts and rights to the body and head for the next two rounds. Then both settled down to a dull routine of straight boxing until the eleventh, winding up the last two rounds in a blaze of action that frequently had the boys standing toe-to-toe and slugging it out.

May Meet Steele

As a result of the victory, Conn was placed in line for a possible crack at the world's title, now held by Freddy Steele of Tacoma. Yarosz had been promised a bout with the champ if he hurdled the up-and-coming Conn but it now appears that Conn will square off with the champ if such an arrangement can be made.

There were no knockdowns during last night's fracas although both boys slipped to the canvas once during the evening. More than 13,000 fans paid $26,178.94 to witness the fight. Of this, Yarosz received 30 per cent and Conn 25 per cent, amounting to $7,461 for the ex-champ and $6,217.50 for the latter.

Bernd Rosemeyer

Driving a snappy 16-cylinder job, Bernd Rosemeyer, 1936 Grand Prix champion of Europe, is one of the foreign threats in the Vanderbilt Cup race July 3 at Westbury, L. I.

Friend Richard (Rentz) while you are in California we might inform you that New Castle, at one time was quite prominently known in that state. When you were a little boy, hanging to the cuffs of your father's trousers, there was a crowd from here for whom California fans had considerable praise. The crowd was composed of Jimmie Dime, George Chip, Tom McMahon, Joe Chip and Patsy Brannigan. They practically whipped everybody they met in California.

For instance Chip knocked out the Petulma chicken, Billy Murray. Jack Kearns, later manager of Jack Dempsey and now Detroit's foremost promoter, handled Murray. Tom McMahon smacked a couple of 200 pounders, including Al Kaufman, on the whiskers and Joe Chip also had action. Later on the aggregation with Dime at the rudder, went to Australia where Chip met and lost to one of the greatest of those who claim a punch, black eye and a few drops of claret are badges of courage. He was Les Darcy.

Go out and see Jack Doyle and take a peek around, see if you can't say hello to that sports writer, Van Court. If you get into Frisco, say hello to Al Williams who formerly resided here. You know Al was a wrestler, turned fighter, then went to Frisco. He operates a string of health gymnasiums, so we've been told. By looking around a little more you will find Dish Harrington, now with a plumbing concern. Dish was a ball pitcher in Pittsburgh and quite a dancer. He railroaded here and now is in Los Angeles.

And then there is Babe Picato. It was at Los Angeles that Jimmie Dime picked him up 20 years ago. There was a chap by the name of Freddy McDaniels whom Babe licked. Dime liked him so good he brought him east and among the Babe's achievements was a victory over Rocky Kansas. Tom Carey and Sunny Jim Cofforth were great names in the fight promotion business in the days when Dime & Co. went good out there.

Another chap you could say hello to is Suey Welsh, formerly of Akron. He usta come here with his punchers, left Akron with Gorilla Jones and he now manages Hank Hankinson and some other well knowns in that vicinity. No doubt you'll find Suey loitering in Hollywood.

Johnny Papke, who formerly fought in New Castle, went to Hollywood. We don't know if he is in the bobbin' films or not. Kid Wagner, now a hotel proprietor in the east who exchanged punches with him, all in the 160 pound class was in the motions there according to what the Kid told us some months ago, his daughter now is in the movies.

If we didn't want to go fishing for bass in the Neshannock this evening we would toss a couple of more names of people a lot of us back here know that you might be glad to meet. By the way, you might take a look at the places Jess Willard operated. Big Jess is here with Bob Latera. Also go around and see Jim Jeffries who is running some shows at Burbank. Last time we met him was prior to 1909. Sam Berger was with him, when we stood alongside of each other, they the giants and us the pigmy.

If you can look these fellows up you will have met some people whose names have been used quite often in this column.

A prominent automobile man of this city not only lost his dignity but tackle worth $15.00, while angling for the elusive finnies at Conneaut Lake, several days ago. The gentleman of whom we write, cast, lost his balance, plunged out of the boat into the water and when he came from beneath swam to the boat, minus the fishing tackle.

Eight college golf aspirants from seven institutions remained last night in the thirty-ninth annual title chase for the National Collegiate Golf championship which continued today and eyes will be centered on Bill Barclay, Jr., of Michigan who beat Willie Turnesa, medalist, of Holy Cross, one up in the second round. The matches will be as follows: Bill Barclay, Jr., Michigan vs. Jim Marks, Jr., Princeton; John Hobart, Illinois vs. Paul Leslie, L. S. U.; Harvey Johnston, Georgetown vs. Fred Haas, L. S. U. and Vincent D'Antoni of Tulane vs. Stanley Holditch, Georgia Tech.

Gerin Cameron of Tulsa, runner-up for the National Intercollegiate tennis championship, gained the fourth round of the Eastern Intercollegiate tennis championship yesterday at Dongan Hills, N. Y., with a 6-1, 6-3, victory over Farris Campbell, of Yale. Don McNeil, of Kenyon followed him in the fourth round by beating Joe Abrams of Tulane, 6-3, 6-2 and George F. Lowman, of Harvard, 6-3, 6-2 respectively. In the third round Gardner Mulloy, Miami, defending champion, beat Charley Gilbert, Jr., of Columbia, 3-6, 6-2, 6-0. Other victories were: Julius Heldman, California, beat George Pryor, Kenyon; Lewis Wetherell, Southern California beat Bernie Frank, Miami; Douglas Imhoff, California, beat W. Kent Boyle, Florida; William S. Seward, Stanford defeated Ben Theman, New York U., by default; J. Norman Anderson, Dartmouth downed William J. Simpson, Cornell and Owen Anderson, U. C. L. A. beat H. Gordon Wood, Colgate.

From London comes a cablegram that the British Board of Boxing control has agreed to recognize the heavyweight bout between Tommy Farr and Max Schmeling as a world championship affair. The bout will be held some time in August. The board took the attitude that Schmeling's defeat of Joe Louis in 1936 gave Schmeling the right to be recognized as the leading contender. Louis' knockout of Champion Jimmy Braddock in Chicago was ignored, on this basis, the report stated.

Emmett Rocco, former heavy-weight boxer of Ellwood City, has returned from California and in the future will reside at Ellwood City. Rocco has been on the Pacific coast for several years. He fought practically all of the best heavyweights when he was in the ring.

Reports from Morgantown, say that Marshall (Little Sleepy) Glenn has been tendered the position of head football coach and basketball coach at West Virginia university. Glenn conferred with President C. F. Boucher. However, no statement was made following the powwow.

Don Budge, U. S., smashed his way into the all English tennis finals Wednesday, when he beat Gottfried von Cramm, Germany, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1. However, von Cramm outlasted Bunny Austin, England, in the other semi-final, 8-6, 6-3, 12-14, 6-1, and reached the final round for the second year in a row. He was beaten last year by Fred Perry, the Briton, who now is a professional.

Rose Point Tops Union A. C. 9-2

Rose Point baseball team defeated the Union A. C. last night at the Rose Point Field. The score was 9 to 2. Morris did the pitching for the Pointers and held the Unions to three hits.

Morris fanned 10 of the Union batters. Morgan and DeLone did the pitching for the Unions and were found for 12 hits.

E. Updegraph featured the game with a home run drive. Red Bevan had a triple and double for the Pointers.

Vanderbilt Cup Race Saturday

Auto Racers Will Gamble With Death Over Roosevelt Speedway, Hairpin Curves

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 1.—Along Broadway today . . . The boys are calling Saturday's 300-mile Vanderbilt Cup race the undertakers' special.

Everybody's conceding the race to one of the foreign drivers. Everybody, that is, except the American drivers who plan a very rough passage for all hands around the seven hairpin curves of the Roosevelt raceway at Westbury, L. I.

Experts agree the Germans, Bernd Rosemeyer and Ernst Delius, have the fastest cars, but Rex Mays, Glendale, Cal., daredevil, who cares little about his own neck, and even less about the other fellow's, says the race will be won on the turns, not on the straightaway.

Rosemeyer Does 159

Rosemeyer had the railbirds' eyes popping yesterday when he tore down the straightaway in a practice spin at 159.8 miles an hour which isn't loitering.

Mays has been clocked at 141 miles an hour, but he and the other graduates of the bull ring circuit say they can make up the difference while taking the turns on two wheels.

Races like this one, with $20,000 hung up for the winner, give the boys a chance to break into the important dough, and the promoters plan to give $100 to the leader at every lap. There are 90 laps of 3 1-3 miles each.

Wednesday evening, the Strollers defeated the Universal Pottery on the Rose avenue field, with a score of 16-12. The whole team worked behind the fine pitching of Dinks Lane, who only permitted his opponents to have two hits.

Boston Bees Set Record

Score Three Shutout Victories Over Brooklyn Dodgers In Two Days

PIRATES TRIP CINCINNATI 6-0

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 1.—Speaking of the Boston Bees' pitching, as every one is doing of late, they can't match several other National league clubs in all around ability, but they have accomplished—through a combination of luck and skill—a feat that may not be duplicated for seasons.

When they perpetrated two shutouts against the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday—to make it three in a row in two days—the Bees sent the oldest of baseball men scurrying to the archives to see when such a feat was last accomplished.

Three Shutouts

They started the business on Tuesday with a 1 to 0 win in 12 innings pitched by Lou Fette and followed up yesterday with 1 to 0 and 7 to 0 victories on the hurling of Frank Gabler, the ex-Giant, and the veteran Guy Bush. Mungo was the victim in yesterday's first game.

In the three contests the Dodgers made a total of 16 hits as further indication of the kind of pitching the Bees are getting—even if it doesn't last.

Gomez Hurls

In the American league Lefty Gomez of the Yankees held the Philadelphia Athletics to a single blow in winning by 5 to 1. With that, Lefty matched the feat of Monte Pearson, a team-mate, who earlier in the season held the Chicago White Sox to one hit. However, Pearson made his a shutout while Gomez made the mistake of letting the hit he gave up go for a home run, acquired by Bob Johnson.

The Detroit Tigers gained some ground in the American circuit on the hurling of Tommy Bridges, who held the White Sox to five hits and won by 4 to 1.

The Senators beat the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 4, and the Indians downed the St. Louis Browns, 10 to 3, Trosky belting a brace of homers.

Giants Win

The Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 7 to 2, to strengthen their hold on second place over the third place St. Louis Cardinals, trimmed by the leading Chicago Cubs, who made 20 hits, 9 to 4.

In a night game at Cincinnati, Cy Blanton of the Pirates blanked the Reds 6 to 0, the Bucs advancing to within half a game of the third-place Cardinals and the Reds dropping into a tie with the Phillies for last place in the senior circuit.

RANGERS WIN

The Rangers snapped out of their losing streak to defeat the Ross A. C. in a Midget League game, winning by a score of 15-11. Minick was the winning pitcher and Conglose the loser.

He Proves It

Unless 11-year-old Douglas Bombard of Santa Catalina, Cal., carries this picture for the rest of his life he'll have a difficult time convincing his hearers that he once caught a fish as big as himself. It's a 60-pound white sea bass, 58 inches long. Doug broke the record set with a 53-pounder by E. A. Brewster in 1907.

Three Teams Tied In Midget League

Millers, Deweys, Pearsons And Rangers Capture League Wins

RURAL POWER

HARRISBURG, June 30.—Electric power lines reach only 57,000 of the 191,000 farms in Pennsylvania, the state department of agriculture reports. The Rural Electrification Administration at Washington has loaned rural power cooperatives in Pennsylvania $1,790,000 and plans to finance others to the extent of $1,600,000 this year. These co-operatives are bringing the economics and convenience of electric power to thousands of farms not served by public utility companies.

Roof Coating made with Real Asbestos

CAREY Fibre Coating does more than cover the surface of a felt roof—it renews the life of the material. The light oils soak into the dried-out felt, thoroughly waterproofing it. The heavy oils fill up exposed cracks and form a new wearing surface. This new surface is reinforced with fibres of genuine asbestos, the wonderful mineral which is practically impervious to exposure.

Carey Fibre Coating is made for felt roofs, but it is also fine for badly worn metal roofs. One gallon covers about 50 square feet — get our money-saving prices on any quantity.

SEEK TO HALT TAX EVASIONS

the law, Fish claimed Mr. Roosevelt has taken advantage of the same loopholes now being discussed by the committee.

Chairman Doughton challenged the statement that Mr. Roosevelt had taken advantage of the law. He told Fish to submit his information to Republican members of the committee.

Expected Recommendations

The commitee's tax recommendations are expected to include:

1. Either raise the 10 per cent withholding tax on American earnings of foreigners, or leave the tax unchanged and require in addition filing of income tax returns to determine whether higher rates are due.

2. Virtual abolition of personal holding companies for tax purposes, by empowering the commissioner of internal revenue to decide whether a person is actually operating a company as a business or to avoid taxes.

Both treasury lawyers and congressional tax experts foresaw stiff legal battles over legislation to plug the legal loopholes.

"I believe," said Rep. Vinson (D) of Kentucky, "that congress can write into the law provisions under which the taxing authorities can look through a personal holding corporation and thus prevent a taxpayer from assuming multiple personalities for tax purposes.

"If that were done, then in the cases of stock farms, racing stables and other operations, it would be a question of fact whether or not they were operated as businesses, merely hobbies or to avoid taxes."

A blow to horse racing was foreseen by some tax authorities as a result of the investigation and probable legislation. Most racing stables owned by wealthy persons lose money. Under present law they can escape part of the loss through tax deductions. But if deductions are not allowed, many of them may abandon their racing stables.

Noted actors, actresses, writers and entertainers also may suffer under the proposed legislation. Many have incorporated to reduce income taxes, treasury officials said.

A fe wmore years and Japan won't dread a war with Russia. By that time she wil have tricked Stalin into kiling all his generals.

Stock Market Tone Is Firm

Steel Climbs Two Points During Morning Trading —Other Gains Made

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 1.—The stock market maintained a firm tone into afternoon dealings today.

Steels, utilities, coppers and rails led the advance from the opening. After moderate profit-taking, stocks turned quiet until steels touched off a fresh rally bringing gains running to more than a point.

Big steel climbed close to two points to around 101 before its forward progress was halted. Bethlehem and National Steel each advanced about a point, while Republic did nearly as well.

Allied Chemical was a blue-chip feature, spurting five points in limited dealings. American Smelting in the metals, Public Service of N. J. in the utilities, American Sugar and U. S. Rubber were among the stocks to chalk up gains of a point or more. Paramount was a low-priced favorite, running up 1½ points to well above 19.

Bonds displayed a firm tone, although governments were mixed and quiet. Grains resumed their upward course in impressive fashion, but cotton lost 50 cents a bale.

Changes Made In Diplomatic Posts

Nominations Are Sent To Senate By President Roosevelt Today

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—President Roosevelt today sent to the senate nominations involving six important diplomatic posts.

Hugh S. Gibson, of California, ambassador to Brazil, is being sent to Belgium succeeding Dave H. Morris.

Jefferson Caffery, of Louisiana, ambassador to Cuba for the past three years, was named to fill the Brazilian post.

J. Butler Wright of Wyoming, former minister to Czechoslovakia was elevated to the rank of ambassador to Cuba, succeeding Caffery.

Two other diplomatic changes involved Haiti and Switzerland. Ferdinand L. Meyer, of Indiana, counsellor of the embassy at Berlin, was named minister to Haiti and Leland Harrison of Illinois, minister to Rumania was transferred to the Swiss post. Harrison succeeds Hugh Wilson, just named to the post of assistant secretary of state.

William H. Hornibrook, of Utah, former minister to Persia, was named minister to Costa Rica, a post left vacant by the resignation of Leo Sack.

The series of appointments broke the logjam in diplomatic vacancies which had been held in abeyance since President Roosevelt's re-election. Gibson, Caffery and Wright had been absent from their posts on leave for several months, spending much of their time at the state department here.

Other changes in top bracket ambassadorial positions have been reported under consideration for some time. These involve possible changes at London, Moscow and Berlin.

Hunting a Killer

Chemist Ray Pinkert, of the Los Angeles police department, is shown looking over a bit of adhesive tape and a pair of overalls found at the scene of the murder of three little girls, Madeline and Melba Everett, and Jeanette Stephens. Analyses of all material found at the scene are being speeded to aid in the hunt for the degenerate murderer.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT AND HIS BRIDE ARE NOW ON HONEYMOON

iet wrote the happy ending to their love story in a ceremony that was brief but glamorous. It took 11 minutes to unite DuPont and Roosevelt while the President of the United States, members of the cabinet, and a host of powerful DuPonts looked on.

1350 Reception Guests

The cars of the 1350 reception guests clogged the roads to Owls Nest so that it took some guests including postmaster general and Mrs. Farley—three hours to get from the church to the reception.

The entire bridal party, including the president, Mrs. Roosevelt, and the parents of the bride, stood in a receiving line for almost four hours, until both bride and groom were showing signs of strain and the bridesmaids were frankly collapsing.

New Dealers and "Economic Royalists" alike went down the receiving line, ad infinitum. Lammot DuPont, arch foe of Roosevelt, shook hands briefly with the president an with no comment passed on to greet the bride. Postmaster Farley, on the other hand, went smilingly down the line, kissing not only the bride but all the bridesmaids.

A 20-piece orchestra played for dancing in a green and white striped marquee in the garden, and a seven-piece string ensemble played popular tunes inside the house.

Bridal Supper

The bridal supper, Franklin arose tall and smiling to propose the first toast.

"On the happiest evening of my life," he said, "I want to propose a toast to my wife—Mrs. Roosevelt."

With a shout, the entire party rose to its feet, raised high the champagne glasses, and drained them. Then, while Ethel smiled and blushed, they sang "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Not to be outdone, Ethel rose in her bridal finery.

"I want to propose a toast to my husband," she said. And as the glasses were drained again in his honor, she leaned over and kissed him fondly.

Secret Service Men There

Secret service men and Pinkerton detectives in cutaway coats mingled with the swanky visitors.

The thousand-odd weddings gifts which the couple have received were on view in three rooms on the second floor of Owl's Nest, carefully guarded by detectives. The gifts ranged from a patchwork quilt to a nest of five silver trays, with blankets, pictures, cigarette boxes, dishes and silverware in between. There seemed to be more end-tables than anything else; everyone who viewed the gifts wondered what the young couple would do with all the end tables.

There was much coolness to be observed between New Dealers and Liberty Leaguers. They seemed to be able to spot each other a drawing room away, and there was a distinct chill in the atmosphere when lesser members of the Du Pont tribe encountered lesser representatives of the New Deal. The head of the tribes however, to all intents and purposes buried the hatchet for the day.

Thirty "parking engineers stowed guests cars in a specially mowed field on the estate, but rain sogged the fields so that 50 of the cars got stuck in mud and had to be pulled out with a tractor.

The president left shortly before midnight; most of the guests were gone before the bridal pair drove away—where no one seemed to know.

The latest information had them on their way to Maine, via New York. Still another excellent source said they planned to sail from Canada on the Express of Britain.

Cobau Presents His Opinion

City Solicitor Gives Stand On Salary Increase Issue Recently Raised

COUNCIL PONDERS QUESTION AGAIN

Another inning in city employes battle to win a restoration of wages previously enjoyed was staged during council meeting at the city hall today when Solicitor William Cobau in an opinion, told council his legal view expressed last April, has not changed.

Relative to the opinion of William McElwee counsel for the workers, the solicitor said Attorney McElwee had been advised that the city had "unappropriated assets" (delinquent taxes). Cobau wrote that the 1937 budget appropriated all estimated revenues including estimated delinquent taxes.

Council was informed by Mayor Charles E. McGrath that when the budget was compiled it was estimated that 77 percent of delinquent taxes would be collected and 23 percent shrinkage was allowed. It was this latter percentage, it was believed that was construed as "unappropriated assets." Cobau does not believe council can appropriate the percentage allowed for shrinkage.

Cobau said there would be no legal barrier to council appropriating money for a restoration or increase in wages providing the receipts were greater than estimated receipts and relative to an emergency situation, he wrote, he doubted, if a general rise in living costs can be construed as an emergency.

Councilman Joseph D. Alexander took the attitude that the delinquent taxes are assets and remarked that the city had allowed for a 23 percent shrinkage which he construed as unappropriated assets. He declared that the city issues certificates of indebtedness and asserted he wants to give city employes a living wage.

He declared the 23 percent of "unappropriated assets" or delinquent taxes, had not been appropriated in the budget and said he is in favor of having this question, also the question of an emergency, go before the courts. Councilman B. F. Butler expressed a similar opinion.

At this points it was explained by Mayor Charles E. McGrath that no question of legality of payment existed in his mind if the money could be secured. Councilman J. M. Rice remarked that the only question that the court might decide would be whether or not, rising costs of living constitute an emergency.

Councilman B. F. Butler then offered a motion referring the matter to court. However, the mayor said he would not vote for the motion because, he said, there is no question for the court to settle. At this point the city clerk, C. Ed. Brown, entered the discussion.

He pointed out that the ondy way the problem could be properly taken before the court would be for a bill to be drafted, enacted into ordinance and then have someone mandamus the city. However, no motion to have a bill drawn was voted.

Relative to an emergency Councilman Alexander insisted that in his opinion that, when a man's bread and butter are involved, an emergency exists which drew Councilman Butler to remark that "it would be easy for the council to have the point decided."

It was explained in Cobau's opinion that "the money for such purpose could not be secured by increasing the city's indebtedness." He wrote that Mr. McElwee does not controvert this position unless indirectly he implies that money might be borrowed and the indebtedness increased if the situation be deemed an emergency." It was here that Cobau opined he doubted if rising living costs constitute an emergency.

When a delegation of boys appeared in council on another matter the discussion stopped.

Says "Red Army" Started Riots In Chicago Strike

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Swinging clubs and broken bottles, shouting abuse, a "Red Army" started the steel strike riots in Chicago on Memorial Day.

That was the story of Chicago Police Sergeant Lawrence Lyons before the senate civil liberties committee today. He backed up fellow officers, who earlier said they had to defend themselves against strikers and sympathizers or themselves be killed. Ten strikers died in the bloody fracas, some with broken heads, some from gunshot wounds.

Lyons brushed aside inferences by the committee chairman, senator LaFollette (P) Wisconsin, that sawed-off, sharp edged clubs seen in the hands of some police were police department issue, or supplied by the steel company. He said the Chicago police department was on trial here before the people, and that he was here to defend it. He told his story vividly, in an excited, high-pitched voice.

Fine New Store Of New Castle Drug Co. Is Formally Opened

Modern from the front entrance to the back, styled in lines that bespeak the last word in store design and air conditioned to the point that the weather man need not be consulted any month in the year, the New Castle Drug Company's new store at the corner of Washington and Mercer streets makes its formal bow to the public this afternoon and tonight.

Nothing finer in drug stores can be found in Western Pennsylvania. Determined to give New Castle a store that would compare with anything in the metropoli, Maurice Schoenberger, proprietor, has left nothing undone to accomplish his purpose and a visit to the new store is visual evidence of the success of his achievement.

MAURICE SCHOENBERGER

Exudes Class

Even before entering one is taken with the modernity of this new store. It exudes class. The Washington street entrance is done in black and sun tan carrara, with a glass brick panel topping the front doors. Contrasting the sheen and style of the carrara is a polished brass trim and all of it designed in the style we know as modernistic. Perhaps streamlining would do just as well.

Stepping inside three things impress themselves upon the visitors consciousness. The air is cool and fresh but not draughty. The color harmonies, tan and white, are quiet and refined, and the general design of the store smacks of modern merchandising. The cases are of two tone walnut, the fountain is a 27 foot Liquid Carbonic fountain of stainless steel, wall type system with low comfortable counters, the luncheonette is composed of an electric steam table, refrigerated salad unit, all in stainless steel, and the furniture is finished in attractive red leather. The seating capacity of the luncheonette is seventy persons.

Merchandise Cases

Every inch of merchandising space has been utilized but without the slightest suggestion of crowding. The fixtures are tailored to the store's dimensions, the best Mc-Clean fixtures available, done in two tone walnut with the prescription counter a semi-open affair. The cigar and tobacco cases are in humidified cases, the confectionery is under glass but arranged that panels can be slid back on each case, and the general merchandising cases are set in batteries of three. The floor, in rich colored seal tex has in it scattered throughout the emblems of the drug and medical professions. The lighting is all semi-indirect, cased in hammered aluminum fixtures.

The general effect appeals to the eye and gives one an impression that here is a store that has been designed scientifically with customer appeal one of the motivating influences back of the designer's plans.

Air Conditioning

The air conditioning is something that will catch the fancy of the visitor. All one can see of it are several gratings in the west wall, but back of the concealing column lies a mechanical system that is intricate and effective. The air is drawn in from the street and is passed through a four inch filter of spun glass. In the summer humidity is withdrawn from the air and it is cooled to the point of comfort, in winter humidity will be added and the temperature maintained at the right level. A complete change of air is accomplished every three and a half minutes so that at no time, despite the size of the crowd will the air be anything but fresh and dry and at the proper temperature. As the air is vitiated it is drawn into a return duct and passed into the outdoors.

Maurice Schoenberger is proud of the new store and well he might be. "New Castle has been my home for fifteen years" said he, "and New Castle people have been generous in here in 1922 and opened a small here in 1922 and opend a small store. Four years ago I put in the new store on North Mill street. Now the new unit is open. I have faith in the future of New Castle and believe that the people here are entitled to the best store equipment available." Graduating from the University of Western Maryland and later from the University of Pittsburgh Mr. Schoenberger was located in Pittsburgh and Detroit before coming to New Castle in 1922. Since that time his success here has been steady and satisfactory.

The architectural work on the new store was done by the A. L. Thayer Company, the contracting work by L. A. Haug. The air conditioning installation was by R. M. Gillman, all of the people mentioned being New Castle citizens.

The new store is under the management of Charles C. Lumley who had charge of the store on Washington street a few doors west of this new store. Mr. Lumley has been with the New Castle Drug Company for eleven years. The assistant manager Stanley Sudziak has been with the company three years. The luncheonette is in charge of K. S. Stewartson, formerly of Liggett's chain. Seventeen employes comprise the personnel of the new store.

In a word the new store of the New Castle Drug Company at the corner of Washington and Mercer streets is a visual joy and a place of service. Maurice Schoenberger wanted to give New Castle a real, modern drug store. He has done it, in admirable fashion.

Grain Elevator Working Switched

Elevator Built For Export Trade Now Used For Grain Importation

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 1.—This city built a $4,000,000 grain elevator to handle the grain export trade which came down here by train and by the turgid water of the Mississippi. Today, the functions of this elevator have been exactly reversed. Instead of catering to any large export trade, its principal business is imports.

For a strange combination of circumstances have changed the character of the port as far as grain are concerned.

First there was the AAA, now declared unconstitutional. It decreed reduction in the acreage which produced grains.

Drouth Also Factor

Then there was the midwest drouth. It curtailed grain production ever further.

The result was the United States had no grain to export. It lacked enough even for domestic uses.

With this situation, the function of the New Orleans' grain elevator changed. From the Argentine came imports of oats which were hauled up from their deep sea vessels by the grain elevator. After that came shipments of corn from the Argentine and other grains from other places. The grain elevator built for exports was now serving imports.

Do you know that in Philadelphia is a real "Wonderland of Science?"

Benjamin Franklin Memorial and the Franklin Institute, Parkway at 20th street, is being visited by people from all over the United States. More than 4,000 action exhibits, revealing scientific knowledge that puzzle the average mind, are of interest to men, women and children. Experiments in chemistry, physics, and applied science are performed before the eyes of the visitors at the push of a button. Another feature is the collection of the graphic arts, showing them as they existed when Frankin was a Philadelphia printer and as they have been developed through the years. One section of the building houses a collection revealing the development of modern transportation.

The Fels Planetarium portrays the heavens by means of a most intricate mechanism. One may travel thousands of years in time or thousands of miles in space viewing the heavens as they appeared at any time in the past or as they will appear any time in the future, from any part of the earth. Demonstration lectures are given at 3 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. from Monday to Friday, inclusive; at noon, 3, 4 and 8:30 p. m. on Saturdays, at 3, 4, and 8:30 p. m. on Sundays.

HORSE BITES CAR

(International News Service)

BOSTON—"A horse just bit our car."

Despite Sergeant August H. Berthel's apparent skepticism, Patrolman James J. Galvin and Arthur J. Jobert of the East Boston station, who had been on duty in a police radio prowl car, were not "ribbing" him when they made the above report.

Patrolman Galvin and Joseph had parked their prowl car near Maverick Square while doing traffic duty at a school. A horse supplying the motive power for a milk wagon drew up behind the police automobile.

They returned to the automobile to find that the horse had bitten the long metal tubing attached to their antenna, breaking the antenna in two.

SACRED ZEBUS

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O.—A pair of Brahman zebus, sacred cattle from India, may become the property of the Brookside zoo here as the result of city council's approval of a trade with the Crowell-Gifford company of Port Arthur, Tex.

The zoo would send five pony colts and a pony mare for the Asiatic zebus, animals which have never before been displayed here.

BOTTLE-FED MOOSE

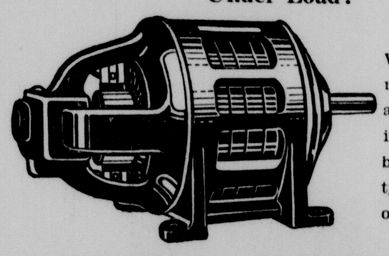

(International News Service)

DILLON, Mont.—Bottle-fed and fully protected, a yearling moose has the run of the swampy lowlands on the Beaverhead county ranch of Frank Hazelbaker, Republican candidate for governor of Montana at the last election. The animal was saved from drowning while a tiny calf last year by Charles L. Foster, who found it marooned on a pile of driftwood in Wise river.
